Strip club zoning decision postponed

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The Hancock County Planning and Zoning Board will postpone a decision on whether to grant a Special Exception to investors hoping to open a strip club on Hwy. 90 between the old alligator sign and the entrance to the BaySide subdivision. The decision will be handed down at the August 5 meeting, rather than at one of the two meetings scheduled for this week, as previously expected. The August 5 meeting will be held at 4:15 p.m. at the board room on the second floor of the Hancock County Courthouse. No new evidence can be presented at the meeting and no one will be allowed to speak on this issue, said building official Mickey Lagasse. But the meeting will be held at the courthouse so that those who wish to be present for the decision, can be, Lagasse said. A public hearing at the Hancock County Civic Center drew 300 to 400 people last week to voice their opinions. Officials postponed a decision to take time to look at evidence and public comments. Only two people spoke in favor of the club at that time.

Depending on the decision next month, the matter may be appealed to the Board of Supervisors and then to the courts. Either side,

'Smiley Faces' showing at Kila Public Library

A collection of smiley faces is currently on display at the Kila Public Library through July. Owned by Melanie Ladner, teacher at Hancock North Central Elementary School, the collection had its beginnings in 1971, when she received her first smiley face as a Christmas gift. Since then, Ladner has received many as gifts from students and friends, including a clock, a bank, a doll, an umbrella and much more. More information is available by calling 255-1724.

Blast in the Bay

Hundreds of people from around the country showed up Saturday at the historic L&N Depot in Bay St. Louis for the 7th Annual Blast in the Bay to support the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund. Classic, street-rod and "don't fit in any category" cars and trucks filled the depot grounds. The event was expected to raise thousands to make a merry Christmas for deserving kids. See Thursday's Echo for more photos and final totals.

Vacation houses becoming meth labs

Owners of vacant property need to check for signs of use

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

"A new trend for crystal methamphetamine (crystal meth) lab operators is to find vacant property in an isolated area and set up a 'cooking' operation," Hancock County Narcotics Division Director Major Matt Karl reports.

Just this past week the Narcotics Division was called by a rural county property owner, who visited vacant property to find some suspicious items, which turned out to be precursors of a crystal meth lab.

Karl said, "I am glad the party called us, because after checking the vacant house, we had to call in a special crystal

Bay wants 'private' annexation meet with Waveland

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

In a highly unusual process, Bay St. Louis City Council members want to meet behind closed doors — and outside of the city limits — for a "friendly discussion" with Waveland aldermen concerning annexation.

The session has been tentatively set for 5:30 p.m. Thursday at Compton's Engineering on Longfellow Road. Mayor Eddie Favre has volunteered to cook for the attendees, but neither he nor Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo are expected to sit in on the session.

Both Bay St. Louis and Waveland filed annexation papers a year ago, seeking to annex lands along both sides of Highway 608, up to and including the intersection of I-10. The sought-after territories overlap in part, particularly the coveted interstate intersection which one day will be a tax base boon.

Ward 3 council member James Thriffley III asked for the meeting Wednesday night. "Hopefully, we can come to a nice, amiable solution," Thriffley said. He told council he's spoken with Waveland officials who are as eager as he to hold such a meeting.

"I talked with our friends in Waveland. We're all so close, and it all makes good sense," Thriffley said of the upcoming attempt to settle the squabble out of court.

PRCC classes still a go in Hancock County despite construction delays

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Due to construction delays, Pearl River Community College's Hancock County Center in the former Wal-Mart building on U.S. 90 in Waveland will not open in time for the start of fall classes next month.

Instead, fall semester classes will begin at Bay High School in Bay St. Louis and then transfer to the Hancock County Center once construction is complete. Classes will begin at 4:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

"We expect a temporary delay in taking occupancy in the Hancock County Center," said PRCC President William Lewis. "The building won't be ready. This will be a temporary inconvenience, but it does not alter our plans to expand our academic offerings in Hancock County. We appreciate the cooperation of the Bay City Schools with our efforts."

PRCC is expanding into Hancock County in an effort to address local residents' educational needs.

Dr. Gaynell Ladner Roberts, a veteran educator, is the new coordinator for PRCC's operations in Hancock County.

She is the former currently executive director of the City County Community Education Program for the Hancock County School District.

"Dr. Roberts is working hard to see that this adjustment goes as smooth as it can," said Dr. Lewis.

Another change involves fall registration, which will now take place from 4-6 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 11, at the Coast Inn and Suites at the corner of U.S. 90 and Highway 603. A Los Angeles-based development company, Urban Properties Investment, is converting the 70,000-square-foot Wal-Mart building into a mixed-use shopping center with indoor and outdoor storefronts. PRCC is leasing some 6,000 square feet of space in the vacant building.

The center will have four classrooms, a conference room and some offices.

"We continue to be excited about establishing a presence in Hancock County and increasing our education programs in this area," said Dr. Lewis. "Hancock County is one of the fastest growing counties in the state."

Hancock County, which is also home to Stennis Space Center, is one of six counties that make up PRCC's district. PRCC also offers courses at Stennis Space Center.

The center initially will offer mostly core academic courses, the standard offerings such as English, American History or math that students are required to take in pursuit of a two-year associate degree.

But Lewis said the curriculum likely would expand over the years, specializing in certain professions, such as nursing, or tailored to meet worker training requirements of local industries.

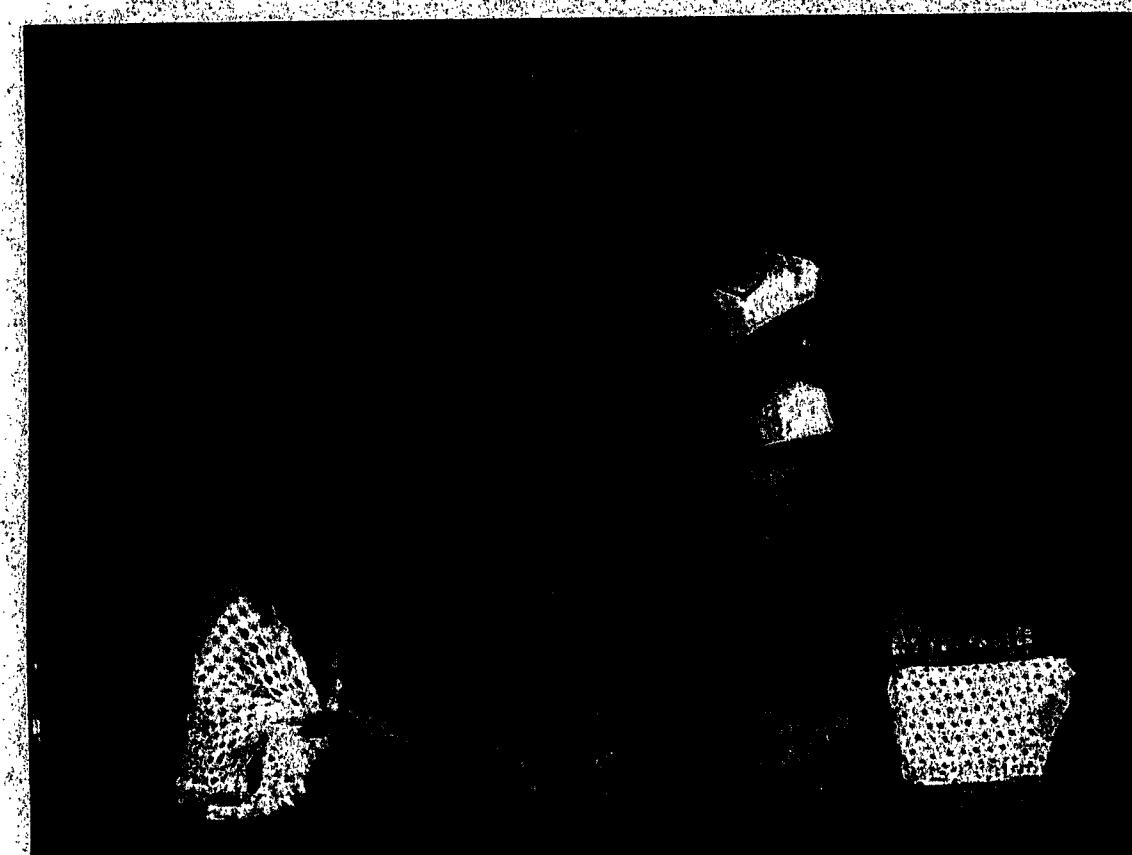

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is providing the money for PRCC's move.

For information about PRCC class offerings in Hancock County, call 228-467-3892.

'Epic' storyteller highlights library program Tuesday

Mary Helen Lagasse has "the epic storyteller's sense of pace and understands the conflict between the human will and the fates" said the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Lagasse is the fifth author to highlight the Hancock County Library System's Authors & Characters @ Your Library series. The program is set for Tuesday, July 13, at 11:45 a.m. in the Seal Meeting Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library.

Mary Helen Lagasse is a native New Orleanian - American by birth and Latina by heritage. She was educated in the parochial schools of the city, received her BA from Tulane University, and "between writing" is working toward an MFA in Creative Writing at the University of New Orleans.

Her novel, The Fifth Sun, is the winner of the 2004 Marmol Prize for a first book of fiction by a Latina writer. It is the story of a Latina's long journey to reclaim her children and her place in the world.

She has completed her second novel, The Heart of the Channel, and has a work-in-progress based on the construction of the 1830's construction of the New Basin Canal in New Orleans where hundreds of Irish emigrants worked and died under harrowing conditions.

The program is open to the public. Lunch is available for $5 with advance reservations. To reserve your lunch or obtain more information, call Jamie Elston at 467-5282.

Strip club

pro or con, may appeal the decisions.

On August 19, another public hearing will be held at the Hancock County Civic Center to decide the fate of a second strip club proposed on Hwy. 603 near Central Ave. The second hearing will be a separate issue, said Lagasse, and will require all concerned parties to resubmit evidence. Check with building office if you have any questions about this, he said.

After the second application was submitted, Hancock County Supervisors initiated a moratorium on any further applications for sexually oriented or adult entertainment businesses in the county, until officials could look at an ordinance to regulate these businesses. Currently, only the cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis have such ordinances. At last week's board meeting, Supervisors said they would hold a workshop to firm up the wording of the ordinance within the next couple of weeks.

Space meets the beach in BSL

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

Stennis Space Center is using satellite technology to get an accurate picture of the waters just off of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Nathaniel Plant, an oceanographer working at Stennis, has been working on the Video Imaging System for Surf Zone Environmental Reconnaissance (VISSEER) for several years.

The project involves using video and satellite technology to get an accurate picture of the effects of the tides on the coast, the sandbars and the bottom of the Mississippi Sound.

To this end, Plant and his team used a Global Positioning System (GPS) relay out into the Gulf, and up and down the beach. Satellites in orbit could then transmit images of the bottom.

Plant and his team placed a benchmark transmitter on the seawall near the Washington St. pier.

The benchmark is used, Plant said, because raw data from the GPS system is inaccurate by 100 meters for national security reasons. The benchmark will correct the inaccuracy of the relay in the Gulf.

The area in the Gulf Coast is one of the few areas in the world with so many sandbars, Plant said.

"The one thing we want to know more than anything else is what the bottom looks like," Plant said.

Water safety was another important goal of the VISSEER project.

"There's a safety aspect as well. We can predict where the big waves, and the riptides come from," Plant said.

Plant has worked on the VISSEER project in many areas around the country and the world.

It was first tested in Duck, NC. Since then, VISSEER has been used to map the coastal terrain of locations such as Newport, OR, La Jolla, CA, the Netherlands, Australia and England.

In addition to the rare quality of the coast's sandbars, the nearness of the coast to Stennis also provides Plant and his team with an easy opportunity to test the technology.

"It's our backyard. There's a lot of expense going somewhere else with a new system. When we do it here, all it takes is an afternoon away from the office."

VISSEER also utilizes two strategically placed video cameras, which constantly record the tides. Pictures are taken and saved every hour, so that researchers can better observe the water's effects.

In the case of Bay St. Louis, the cameras are located on top of The Beach House, a local coffee shop.

"In a single hour, typically not much happens, unless there's a hurricane," Plant said.

For more information of the VISSEER project, as well as regularly updated photographs from VISSEER sites, visit <http://visser.nrlssc.navy.mil>

Two charged in drug buy-bust

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Two area residents were arrested last week and charged with the alleged sale of a controlled substance, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

Bradi Coulter, 24, 210 Coleman Avenue, Apt. B, Waveland and Richard Rust, 34, Quail Trailer Park, Bay St. Louis, were arrested Wednesday in connection with a drug-buy bust in a Bay St. Louis shopping center's parking lot. Major Matt Karl, Narcotics Division director said.

"Our undercover officer was working several days and arranged a deal. The sale arranged with Coulter and, with the undercover officer, agents waited for Rust at the Bay shopping center. Rust brought the hydrocodone, and the two were arrested," Karl said.

"Myself, Agents Clifton (Bubba) Malley, Chris Russell and Johnny Alison from our surveillance points made the arrest. Bond was set at $50,000 each. Rust is also being held for a probation violation in Jackson County."

Agent Malley is in charge of the case.

In an unrelated matter,

Karl reported his office received information that marijuana was growing in a rural area of Clermont Harbor.

Karl said officers recovered four plants in pots, some 3-to-4 feet in height over the weekend.

Assisting Agent Johnny Alison in recovering the plants was Deputy Tim Campbell.

Cuevas Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Good people, here

One of the things I have noticed about this community is the fact that whenever someone has a problem, there always seems to be someone offering a helping hand.

I have seen this happen time and time again, and I am a lifetime resident.

A fine example of this was the fire that destroyed the majority of the residence of Mrs. Lucille and her son, Jerome Boudreaux, in Cedar Point.

Mrs. Boudreaux, a widow, received some injuries in the fire. Mrs. Lucille was hospitalized for an extended period and was already in poor health before the fire.

Coming to the family's aid following the disaster were family and friends, in addition to many folks who probably have never set eyes on Mrs. Boudreaux, since she had not been active in the community in many years because of her health.

In addition to the fact that so many people donated to the fund to help the family, Mrs. Boudreaux also received many visitors at the hospital during her long stay.

Needless to say, Mrs. Boudreaux and son Jerome, are very grateful to the many people who came to their aid following their crisis.

It just makes me feel so privileged to reside in a community where there are so many very caring people.

On Thursday, July 15, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's After Hours will be sponsored by Coast Electric Power Association.

The hours are from 5 to 7 p.m. and the After Hours Social will be held in the Coast Electric Conference Room on Main Street (behind the Shell Station).

The good people of Coast Electric go all out when they sponsor the Chamber's After Hours, and there are always good snacks and refreshments.

Admission is two business cards for chamber members and guests. There will be several door prizes too.

I always enjoy the Chamber's After Hours - it gives me an opportunity to renew old friendships and make new acquaintances.

So, come along and have an enjoyable evening.

I know, I have flat feet, or at least that is what the Army told me, but now, I think I am going to have to develop webbed feet because of the amount of recent rains.

I saw a weather report saying the month of June set a record for the amount of rain this year in Mississippi.

I know we have had quite a bit here, yet, there are other parts of the state which have had even more.

Later this year we will probably be wishing for rain.

Media ruling a victory for consumers

The federal 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld a challenge by consumer groups to rules proposed by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) which would have allowed more cross ownership of local print, television and broadcast media. Having a single media company control both the print and broadcast media in a single market would be bad for consumers, and I'm glad the court has agreed. As a conservative, I believe that diverse ownership and more competition are good things, because they encourage businesses to better serve customers in local communities. That especially includes the media who use public airwaves and in whom the public trusts.

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen.
Frank Lautenberg

The FCC got in hot water last June when they suddenly decided to relax tried and true rules capping the number of newspaper, radio and television outlets any individual company may own in a single media market. The 3rd Circuit court stayed the new rules, pending review of the FCC's action.

These existing rules had been put in place to foster competition and protect consumers. By changing these rules without much consultation with Congress or the public, the FCC acted hastily, failing to see the view of smaller states with small media markets that could be more easily dominated by big and mostly out-of-state media companies.

We can never forget the media is a business that directly impacts our basic right of free speech. It's also a business that depends on broadcast frequencies, owned by U.S. taxpayers and licensed by our government. These licenses are granted, in part, based on the media companies' commitment to serve the unique local market needs with the local frequencies entrusted to them. So, the federal government has a special responsibility to ensure both a competitive media market and to foster good usage of public airwaves that benefits localities.

However, in recent years media companies have consolidated. As they get bigger and bigger, they try to test guidelines concerning use of

THE BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

We have more problems than Barbour will admit

Lets just get right down to the Nitty-gritty here. What has our current Governor done for Mississippi? First he took away from the school systems, buy cutting the budget back so a lot of our teachers were not rehired. Now, my opinion. They should have been given a raise instead of a slap in the face, and not rehired. Who will teach the younger generation coming up? The teachers have a chore as it is, to try and make an educated, and well mannered person out of some wild heathens that are sent to them each year. The teacher's have a job that I myself would not want to tackle.

My next gripe with the Governor, he has the money not to worry about this subject, but does he even care about the people of Mississippi who does not. The subject I am speaking of is Medicaid prescription coverage, and Medicaid itself (which I understand will be cut out by September along with the office of DHS). The Governor says most states have already switched their Medicaid patients over to Medicare. News to me. The Governor thinks that Medicare supplying a $600 a year free prescription card to ONLY people who qualify will help. What if? That amount is used up in one month? Then what? Most of the people on Medicaid prescription assistance are because the medication they are taking is so expensive they cannot afford it to start with. For instance one medication my husband takes and it is the generic brand cost $115 a month, so if he goes to the Medicare prescription program, along with the other medications he takes for his heart, at the most his medications will be taken care of for two months ONLY. Then the Governor says go to your Doctor and let them fill out a form for assistance through pharmacy companies. Now, having worked for Doctors in the past, I know for a fact that will not happen. In fact I have asked my Physician for assistance twice (filling out the pharmacy forms) and to this day I have yet not seen the help. The next alternative is to get on a program your drugist suggests. The problem. You ONLY get a discount through those programs. For the senior citizens, or the disabled that are on a fixed income. Where are

Letters to the Editor

Forget about the strip clubs, we need teen centers

Dear Editor,
I have been reading the controversy over the proposed Gentlemen's clubs in Hancock County. I must first say I am neither for nor against the establishment. I am concerned as to why "investors" are not interested in opening an upscale family/teen entertainment venture. The youth of this county have virtually no place to go for entertainment. They must go to Gulfport, Biloxi or Slidell and bring there business there (those who can drive). Younger children must find alternate (and possibly unsuitable) forms of entertainment. They need a safe place to congregate that welcomes teens, pre-teens as well as the entire family. The Boys and Girls club is wonderful, but a "business" that is geared toward the youth and family would be beneficial to the community as well. It could bring in money from other communities.

I would be most interested in the opinion and views of any investors, government officials and concerned citizens regarding this subject. It is time we thought about giving something to the children and young adults of our community. They may be children now, but they will be of voting age very soon.

Some are already voting.
Sincerely,
Darlene Bilbo

the broadcast airwaves, particularly as they relate to indecency and local service. We know how broadcast decency standards have been watered-down. We know that the South and Midwest continue to have a very different view of indecency than folks on the East and West Coasts, and our media should reflect that, instead of trying to change it. Yet, the issue is more than decency. Have you ever turned on your local radio station trying to get a local weather report and instead got music, programming or even ads piped in from four states away? It happens under existing rules and would have been a bigger problem with the FCC's proposal, which would have allowed even more consolidation.

Here's why: Now, big print media companies are not only buying each other, but buying radio and television stations, and vice versa. There's nothing wrong with cross ownership, but creating an environment where one far-off company can cross own and dominate both the print and broadcast business within a single market is foolish. Advertisers, readers, viewers, listeners - all are best served by having access to diverse voices and competitive rates for their markets. Take Mississippi for example. Our biggest media market is the Jackson area. Jackson is typical of small and intermediate media markets throughout the nation. We have only one major daily newspaper. There are four big television stations and dozens of radio stations. Already the daily print market is a monopoly, dominated by a chain based in the Washington, D.C. area. So there's only one game in town for advertisers and news hounds seeking a daily print outlet. Broadcast there is competitive, but under the rule changes as proposed by the FCC, existing media companies in Mississippi's largest media market could have cross ownership of both print and broadcast media. That means one big, out-of-state company would have been allowed a lock on Mississippi's most influential media market, both in terms of advertising dollars and news coverage. Most Mississippians wouldn't like the result if it were allowed to happen. Thanks to the 3rd Circuit Court's ruling, it's not likely to happen. Our broadcast media markets will remain competitive without excess consolidation. The court's decision compels the FCC to start over with their review of media ownership rules, and I am hopeful the process will be more fair next time. Americans want choice, especially from an industry that's supposed to uphold our constitution.

they going to get the extra money to pay that discount on the medications it takes for them to live? For instance, I was talking with a friend. Her sister is disabled and her income a month is $720, just one of her medications alone a month is $600, now the problem, who will take her in and take care of her, and pay her bills, and other experiences? As I see it, this is your way of reducing the population of the sick and elderly people of Mississippi by letting that breed die out.

Mr. Governor, quit worrying about remodeling the mansion you live in, and purchasing a new jet, and start worrying about the people of Mississippi that put you in office.

I think the people of Mississippi should do like California, and ask for a recall. I wonder if Arnold would be interested to govern our state as well as California.

I might have been one that voted for you to become Governor, but you can bet your boots, myself along with 66,000 people plus will make sure you do not serve a second term.

Conservation Easement Workshops scheduled

A conservation easement is a legal agreement that ensures a property will be managed in perpetuity according to the landowner's desires. It also qualifies the landowner for significant tax benefits. Conservation easements can assist landowners in protecting their land, wildlife habitat, scenic areas or historic buildings. Every conservation easement document is individually crafted and reflects the special qualities of the land protected and the needs of the landowner.

The Mississippi Land Trust would like interested Mississippi landowners to attend one of the upcoming conservation easement workshops.

The first conservation easement workshop will be held at Big Creek Wildlife on July 22nd. Big Creek Wildlife is located near Hattiesburg. This is a one-day workshop. The cost for this workshop will be $45 which covers registration, lunch and handout materials.

The next workshop is scheduled for August 3-4 at Tara Wildlife located near Vicksburg. The cost for this workshop is $145 which covers a tour, registration, one night's stay, two lunches, one dinner, one breakfast and handout materials.

At the workshop, participants will be treated to a diversity of easement topics. Daniel Coggin, Director of the Mississippi Land Trust, will make a presentation on conservation easement use and application. Gerald Barber (Barber and Mann) will conduct a presentation on determining values of conservation easements while Bill Tomlinson (Wildlife Technical Services) will give a presentation on conservation ethics and baseline documentation.

Other speakers at the workshops include Doug Hassell (Teller, Chaney, Hassell & Hopson, LLP). Hassell will inform workshop participants on estate and tax planning benefits from conservation easements. Steve Sessums (May & Company, LLP) will lead an insightful discussion on tax preparation and conservation easements. Landowners interested in attending one of the upcoming workshops should call the Mississippi Land Trust at (662) 686-3375 for a workshop application and brochure.

Annexation

Money apparently is motivating the eleventh hour push, as the annexation contest moves toward the courtroom.

Council already has spent some $35,000 in planning fees to get the case to court, aside from the charges it's incurred from specialist attorneys. Final costs of the effort, some say, could be several hundred thousand dollars.

A couple of weeks ago, council went into executive session with its consultants and annexation attorneys, for an overview of where the case stands and what's likely to happen when the matter goes to a full blown trial.

Without mentioning that recent meeting specifically, council on Wednesday approved a contract extension with Bridge & Slaughter, the city's annexation consultant - but they noted that they can cancel the contract at any time.

The new agreement promises to pay up to $100,000 in professional services for the upcoming trial and its preparation, a sum in addition to untold legal fees that may be run up.

Aside from the potential $100,000 in consulting fees, council is obligated to pay such out-of-pocket expenses as travel, per diem expenses, copies, graphic materials and "other necessary services." With legal fees added on top of that, some officials say Bay St. Louis easily is looking at a minimum $200,000 outlay. The same is true for Waveland.

And there's no guarantee that either city will be granted enough new territory to make such huge outlays feasible. After the annexations, the cities will be facing huge capital outlays to provide city services.

The negotiation overture now on the table comes as council is gearing up for the most active stages of the annexation effort. Officials say depositions of council members are scheduled to begin this week. The trial is expected to span between Thanksgiving and Christmas. And some say that an appeal of the outcome is highly likely, while the tab escalates on consulting and legal fees.

Not only are Waveland and Bay St. Louis entangled legally over their growth goals, but citizens who object to being annexed, at all also are involved.

Thriffley said the upcoming municipal pow-wow could lead to an agreement over who annexes what, and "it might open the door to future joint projects" that would save the municipalities money.

The veteran council member said he has been always an advocate of having all area elected officials meet periodically, to hash out shared concerns.

Clearly a lot of discussion about Thursday's meeting already had taken place before the matter was aired publicly.

Thriffley said he had talked to Bay council members and Waveland aldermen about the idea of an officially closed confab that he prefers not to characterize as a "meeting." And City Attorney John Scafide said he had asked the state attorney general's office about the legality of it.

The attorney general, said Scafide, advised that the meeting could be held in "executive session," or closed to the public. The session would amount to a "joint workshop," outside the city limits of either municipality. And it can be closed, officials said, because there is "pending litigation" involved.

While the talk will be about annexation possibilities, Thriffley said no attorneys or consultants will be invited to attend. He also said he doesn't expect the mayors to sit in or participate.

He had sought use of the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road as the meeting site, but that facility was not available this week. So, Thriffley said he accepted a long-standing offer from officials of Compton's Engineering to use that facility for a meeting, just down Longfellow from the civic center.

As it stands, officials hope to name an impartial "facilitator" to run the meeting. Thriffley said in all probability no action will be taken at the meeting, which he termed "a preliminary get together." Likely, a further meeting will be called later with attorneys involved in the matter.

Postponement of the upcoming annexation trial is one option, he said, as officials seek to hammer out an agreement between the adjoining municipalities.

The cost of doing battle with the citizens who are opposed to the annexation attempts, officials said, will be much less expensive than waging a full blown court contest between Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The Bay's annexation quest covers a vast area between Highway 603 and the Jourdan River, stretching just beyond Interstate 10. It would envelop Garden Isles, much of Shoreline Park and Jourdan River Estates subdivisions and take both sides of the Highway 603 commercial corridor. In all, the annexation would almost triple the city's boundaries and add about 4,000 residents to the city's population. It would double the 70 miles of city roads and streets, add one or two council members to the municipality, and set in motion the need for a new era of capital improvements to service the area.

Waveland's annexation move is in the same area, and partially overlaps the Bay St. Louis bid.

"The clean up crews have to wear all types of protective clothing and masks, etc., when they cleanup the residue of a crystal meth lab," according to Karl.

"We kept the property under surveillance from Friday until Thursday morning, before getting the clean up crew to come in. Before receiving the report, neighbors did report seeing several strangers in the area," Karl said.

Crystal meth operators are looking for places to set up and then move on, he said. "They will use a vacant house, shed, barn, mobile home, and even in the woods. My advice to anyone suspecting what may be meth lab precursors, to call us immediately at 228-467-1496."

"Property owners need to check their property on a regular basis. You could have a crystal methamphetamine lab operation and not know it."

Karl, along with agents Johnny Alison, Clifton (Bubba) Malley and Chris

Russell, participated in the investigation, with Allison being the lead investigator.

Walby announces retirement; named Sea Wolves associate coach

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Mississippi Sea Wolves right wing Steffen Walby (STEHF-ihn WAHL-bee) announced today at a news conference inside the Mississippi Coast Coliseum that he has retired from playing professional hockey to become full-time associate coach with the team.

Walby, 31, retires after an 11-year professional career, appearing in a total of 802 games combining regular season and playoffs. From 1993 to 2004, Walby netted 315 goals, tallied 372 assists for 687 points, for an average of .857 points per game.

The 6-foot and 200-pound Walby enjoyed his most productive professional seasons with Mississippi leading the team in scoring for each of the three seasons that he played with the team from 2001-04. Named captain and assistant coach in each of his Sea Wolves campaigns, Walby retires as Mississippi's all-time regular season leader in goals (117), points (270), power-play goals (43), shorthand goals (11) and plus/minus (+72). He is also the all-time Sea Wolves playoff leader in assists (17) and points (27). Walby finished with a total of 206 games played in a Mississippi uniform, scoring 127 goals and adding 170 assists for 297 points, which is an average of 1.44 points per game.

Named to the All-ECHL

First Team for three consecutive years, Walby was selected as a starter and captain for the Western Conference at the 2004 ECHL All-Star Game, scoring a goal in the contest at Peoria, Illinois. Born in Orange County, California and raised in Lodi, Wisconsin, Walby won the Accuracy Shooting event at the 2004 ECHL All-Star Skills Competition, hitting four targets in eight shots. In 2003-04, Walby finished second in the ECHL points race by registering 88 points, including a career-high 55 assists, tying the team record with a +32 and was named Mississippi's Offensive Player of the Year.

In 2001-02, Walby posted team records and career-highs with 42 goals and 93 points and followed it up by tallying another 42-goal season in 2002-03, while being awarded Mississippi's Most Valuable Player honors in both campaigns. In 2002-03, Walby also set Sea Wolves team records for a season by scoring 10 game-winning goals, 18 power-play goals and seven shorthand goals, while being selected as a starter and captain for the Southern Conference at the 2003 ECHL All-Star Game at Estero, Florida. In addition, Walby leads Mississippi by being named ECHL Player of the Week on three occasions and taking the ECHL three times.

Walby played seven seasons in the American Hockey League capped off by being a member of the 1997 Calder Cup Champion Hershey Bears. He started his pro career with the St. John's Maple Leafs (1993-96), played three seasons in Hershey (1996-97; 1999-01), 50 games for the Rochester Americans (1998-99), 23 contests with the Kentucky Thoroughblades (1998-99). He also played one season in the International Hockey League with the Fort Wayne Komets (1997-98). Walby attended seven National Hockey League training camps over his career featuring three with the Toronto Maple Leafs (1993, 1994 and 1995), two for the Buffalo Sabres (1997 and 1998) and two camps with the Colorado Avalanche (1996 and 1999).

"It's tough to retire from playing, but I want to now find success in other areas of the game," said Walby. "There have been three key pieces of the puzzle that I would like to thank over my career. My family, mother and father, brothers and sisters, especially my wife Alexis and son Braxton for their support, the teams that I've suited up for, and the fans in each of the cities for making it a memorable ride. My success will now be measured through the players and seeing them advance in their careers. I'm excited about showing the younger guys how to be a professional hockey player on and off the ice. I've learned a lot about what it takes to be a professional over the last 11 years and it is a great opportunity to help mold these young men."

"Steffen has been a huge asset to our organization over the past three years," said Bob Woods, Sea Wolves general manager and head coach. "Walby finished his playing career as one of the top players in the ECHL. He's also been terrific teaching younger players along the way and this is the next step and a natural progression. I need someone to step up and fill a bigger role in the coaching area" and Steffen will do a great job at it. Our past success together shows that it will be a smooth transition."

The Sea Wolves opens up their ninth ECHL season at home on October 22 against the Louisiana IceGators at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Waveland residents Carly and Colton Johnson do some showbiz climbing with Universal Studios' Spider-Man at the popular entertainment attraction recently. The 13 and 7 year old youths visited the Southern California park with parents Keith and Stephanie Johnson and Uncle Irv Cuervas who resides in Seal Beach, CA. Adding to their whirlwind visit were stops in Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Rodeo Drive, and Disneyland. They also found time for an L.A. We thought of you with love today
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday
And days before that too.
We think of you in silence.
We often speak your name.
Now all we have is memories
And your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part.
God has you in his keeping.
We have you in our hearts.

We miss you so much Papa,

Nationally-acclaimed artist Alice Mosely dies at her studio

Alice Latimer Moseley
Alice Latimer Moseley, nationally acclaimed folk artist died Friday at 6:30 p.m. in her much loved home/studio at 214 Bookter Street in bay St. Louis. "Miss Alice's" earlier career was as an eighth grade English teacher in Memphis City Schools, and it was her teaching that she considered her most important work. She was in touch with many of her former students up until her death.

She began painting at the age of 60 and was a successful artist in Memphis, but she fell in love with Bay St. Louis and her heart and her spirit will always belong to Bay St. Louis and the wonderful people who live and work there.

Her home/studio will continue her normal hours of 10-5, seven days a week and will be converted into the Alice Moseley Folk Art and Antique Museum dedicated to doing good works in the Bay St. Louis community. Miss Alice is survived by her son, W. L. Tim Moseley, of Pass Christian; her sister Colleen Kinley and her family in California and her nephew, Mike Krawcheck and his family in her birthplace of Birmingham, Alabama and her best friend and companion Herman, the photogenic beagle.

Her close friends, sponsors and patrons were many, but she requested that special mention be made of Jerry Dixon, who she credited with getting her career established in Bay St. Louis; Beth Carriere, who promoted Miss Alice just about as aggressively as Miss Alice promoted herself; Sherry Ponder, a long time friend who was especially kind in those final days; and Dale St. Amant who was a rock upon whom she depended.

Miss Alice is to be cremated at the Picayune Funeral Home and her memorial service will be held at the Bay St. Louis Depot on July 17th at 6:30 pm.

Alice Latimer Moseley was born on December 21, 1909 and was 94 years old at her death. She will be in the memory of many of us for always and her life provides a superb example of how life can be lived with dignity, the doing of good deeds, a sense of honor and the tenacity to make ones dreams come true.

Waveland readies for next WaveFest

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

It's that time of year again, time to start preparing for the Fourth Annual Wave Fest.

This year Wave Fest will be held on Sunday, September 5, from 10 a.m. till 8 p.m. on Coleman Ave. in Waveland and promoters hope this will be the biggest and the best year yet. To make that happen, they need your help.

Help can be in the form of a sponsorship for the folding map that will serve as both a guide and a map to the festivities, monetary support, volunteering, or by participating. Help from individuals or groups is welcomed.

The event began as a venue for community participation, as an end of summer celebration for both residents and visitors, and of course to promote an atmosphere to encourage economic growth on Coleman Ave. Each year the fest has continued to grow.

This years fest will feature a 5K run, Antique Auto Show, live bands all day, arts and crafts, food and beverage booths, information booths, children's games and rides, a sand sculpting contest at the beach, community entertainment and a raffle.

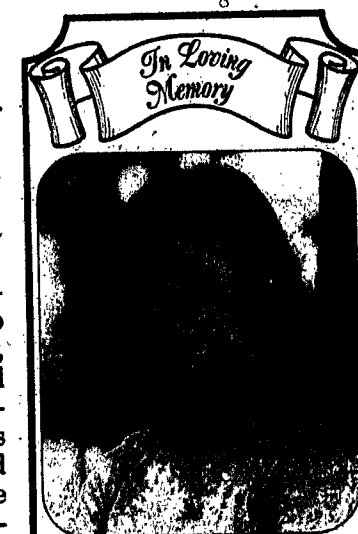

Downtown businesses will feature sidewalk sales or other promotions. A fireworks display sponsored by the City of Waveland will finish the day.

Individuals, artists, crafts people, civic, church, school, business and community organizations, restaurants, and others are invited to reserve booths early.

The deadline for booth reservations is August 1, and the spaces are limited.

For more information, to reserve a booth or a sponsorship, or to volunteer please call Carol Kerr at 228-467-1405, or Kathy Pinn at 228-467-3922.

The event is sponsored by the Coleman Ave. Coalition and the City of Waveland.

You never said you're leaving
You never said goodbye
And only God knows why
A million times we've cried
If love alone could have saved you
You never would have died
In life we loved you dearly
In death we love you still
In our hearts you hold a place
That nobody could fill
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you didn't go alone
For part of us went with you
The day God took you home
Today July 10th your family and friends
celebrate your life
Happy 20th Birthday Ashley
We love you forever and forever young

Hancock Holding Company reports first half of 2004 earnings are up 17 percent

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Hancock Holding Company (NASDAQ: HBHC) last week announced earnings for the six-month period ended June 30, 2004. Net income for the first half of 2004 totaled $30.52 million, compared to $26.05 million reported for the first half of 2003, an increase of $4.47 million, or 17 percent. Diluted earnings per share for the first six months of 2004 were $0.93, compared to $0.78 for the same period in 2003, resulting in an increase of $0.15 per share, or 19 percent.

Net income for the second quarter of 2004 was $16.37 million, an increase of $3.99 million, or 32 percent, from the $12.38 million reported for the second quarter of 2003. Diluted earnings per share were $0.50 for the second quarter of 2004, compared to $0.37 for the second quarter of 2003, an increase of $0.13 per share, or 35 percent.

The Company's returns on average assets and average common stockholders' equity for the second quarter of 2004 were 14.9 percent and 14.97 percent, respectively, compared with 12.0 percent and 12.42 percent for the second quarter of 2003. Annualized returns on average assets and average common stockholders' equity for the six months ended June 30, 2004, were 14.1 percent and 13.99 percent, respectively, compared with 12.8 percent and 13.24 percent for the six months ended June 30, 2003.

The second quarter of 2004 included an after-tax gain of $1.95 million, or $0.06 per share, related to the recently announced partnership of the Company's merchant services business with Denver-based First Data Corporation. Excluding the impact of this gain, net income increased $2.04 million, or 16 percent from the second quarter of 2003 and was $278,000, or 2 percent, higher than the first quarter of 2004. Under the terms of the recently signed agreement with First Data Corporation, all merchant payment processing services will be provided by First Data on behalf of Hancock Bank. Hancock will participate in revenue related to both the existing book of business and new business.

Inclusive of the second quarter gain on the merchant services partnership with First Data Corporation, net income for the second quarter of 2004 was $2.2 million, or 16 percent, higher than the first quarter of 2004. Second quarter of 2004 diluted earnings per share were $0.50, or $0.07, higher than the first quarter of 2004.

Other key performance trends for the second quarter of 2004 included:

Net interest margin (te) was 4.40 percent in the current quarter, 1 basis point narrower than the prior quarter, and 3 basis points wider than the same quarter a year ago.

The efficiency ratio (before amortization of purchased intangibles, gains on sale of branches and credit card merchant services, and securities transactions) was 59.40 percent for the second quarter of 2004 and was 69 basis points lower than the second quarter of 2003.

Returns on average assets and average common stockholders' equity were 16 and 19.6 basis points higher, respectively, in the second quarter versus the first quarter.

Average loans grew $86 million, or 4 percent, over the previous quarter. The loan/deposit ratio was 70 percent for the current quarter - unchanged from the previous quarter, but improved 675 basis points from the same quarter a year ago; average loans grew $391 million, or 18 percent, compared to the same quarter a year ago.

Average deposits grew $124 million, or 4 percent, over the previous quarter and $228 million, or 7 percent, over the same quarter a year ago.

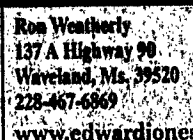

Non-performing assets ratio at June 30, 2004 improved 4 basis points from March 31, 2004 to 0.55 percent. The ratio of net charge-offs to average loans was 0.47 percent for the second quarter of 2004, an increase of 2 basis points from the previous quarter and a decrease of 17 basis points from the same quarter a year ago.

Common stock repurchases totaled 100,000 shares in the second quarter of 2004, bringing the total number of shares repurchased thus far this year to 151,754.

In commenting on Hancock's operating results for the second quarter of 2004, George A. Schloegel, Chief Executive Officer, stated, "Hancock's second quarter results continue to be consistent with the long-term strategic focus of the Company. Our management team continues to evaluate opportunities for growth and expansion as evidenced by last quarter's entrance into Florida, but also is cognizant of opportunities where exiting a business line makes sense for our shareholders, such as this quarter's decision related to the partnership of our merchant services area. Both actions represent strategic decisions that were made in the best interests of our shareholders."

Coast Transit Authority hosts workshops

THE SEA COAST ECHO
A series of strategic planning workshops for the development of transit in Harrison, Hancock and Jackson Counties were held to gain insight into the issues and views concerning public transportation on the Gulf Coast.

The Coast Transit Authority (CTA), in cooperation with the Gulf Regional Planning Commission, invited municipal, county, community and civic leaders to discuss expanding service and increasing ridership, building community support for CTA and enhancing CTA's community image.

Long-range planning discussions focused on the potential to increase service to several growth areas in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties, for tourists and convention attendees. In addition to growth considerations, the CTA workshops also addressed more diverse means of disseminating route and scheduling information.

Currently, all schedule, rate and route information is available at the Coast Transit Authority's website, www.coasttransit.com.

Attendees also discussed ideas on how to build community support for transit. Currently, the public is generally unaware of the huge need for transit by the elderly, disabled, low-income and temporary personnel in the three coastal counties. As the population along the coast ages and federal assistance programs decline, the need for public transportation will increase.

The public's perception of public transit was also addressed by workshop attendees and many misconceptions by the non-transit riding public, including the condition of the equipment, schedule and route changes, prices and passes were either dispelled or explained.

CTA buses were parked at the workshops for attendees to meet the drivers, discuss daily operations and see the features of the bus, including the handicap access.

Overall, the workshops sponsored were successful, as attendees were able to

FORT MASSACHUSETTS, WEST SHIP ISLAND

Ship Island has played an important role in the history and settlement of the Gulf Coast. Named in 1699 by French explorers for its deep-water anchorage, the island soon became an important port for French Louisiana. During the War of 1812, 60 British ships, with nearly 10,000 troops, rendezvoused at the island prior to their unsuccessful attempt to capture New Orleans. In 1862 Admiral David Farragut's Union invasion fleet used Ship Island as a staging area to capture New Orleans and Mobile.

An excursion to Ship Island is consistently rated by locals and visitors as the coast's premier waterborne experience. Travel to a place of exceptional natural beauty, home of historic Fort Massachusetts, long secluded stretches of beach, and sparkling clean, gulf water. For more information: mshipisland.com

The J.L. Scott Marine Center and Da Beach House have teamed up to help kids of all ages learn about the Gulf Coast.

This week, students from the Louisiana South University Upward Bound Trio Program for Mathematics and Science took part in The Project Marine Discovery Sea Camp.

The Upward Bound program is designed for high school students who show particular interest or promise in fields like science, architecture, mathematics and engineering.

Program director Earl Lee, of Baton Rouge, said the students' participation in

Despite unfortunate name, bog sage salvia is beautiful

I remember correctly, it was a girl who won the prize. What's in a name? When it comes to flowers, a name can be quite important. For instance, one of my favorite plants is the bog sage salvia. It's a beautiful, sky-blue flower that has to be seen to be believed. Unfortunately, its botanical name, Salvia ulmaria, is a bit of a mouthful. But don't let that stop you from growing it. The

Our least terns are back. This is the fourth year
I've noticed least terns take over a hundred to my yard of sand between our house and Carrier's pier. If you walk along that area of the beach, you can't miss them. There must be at least a couple hundred of the birds in that small area and they are noisy! Least terns are of the same taxonomic family as gulls, which may be the reason for their gregarious and noisy behavior.

They're pretty, very dainty, almost formal looking birds. I like to watch them fly, flying in loose groups, using their forked tails to wheel about and beat their wings at unbelievable rates as they turn and hover looking for prey. Then a quick tuck back of wings, a dive straight down, a small, almost dainty, white splash and then up and we see a tern with a small fish in its bill.

They are equally as pleasant to watch as they fly in tight groups, busy clouds of white, beating wings tipped with an oh-so-thin sliver of black, flashing, darting low over the water. As I walk along the waters edge, they rise up from the sand ahead of me, stirred into a light white cloud over the shallow, then settling behind me, waiting, waiting to do it all again, when I return.

And always their loud, complaining cries, outdoing even those of the sea gulls that normally occupy the beach in the same area.

I suppose this constant hubbub is why the gulls have moved elsewhere. I can't blame the gulls, but it does seem to be a case of one group of noise-makers chasing away another. I passed a large flock of gulls on the beach just beyond the least terns. The gulls were noisy, too. I was going to write about them, but I was too busy watching the least terns. They were so beautiful, so graceful, so dainty. I was so lucky to see them. I was so lucky to see them. I was so lucky to see them.

Boys and Girls Club's of the Gulf Coast dinner set for July 27

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, Grand Casino Gulfport, and Outback Steakhouse will host the 13th annual Steak & Stake Dinner & Silent Auction, Tuesday, July 27. The evening kicks off with a pre-dinner reception and silent auction at 6 p.m. at the Grand Gulfport Event Center.

Based on the concept that by purchasing a STEAK, you are buying a STAKE in a child's future, the "Steak & Stake" Dinner is a celebration held by many Clubs across the country. Funds generated help support the organization's costs, as well as provide for the needs of the organization's members. Last year the Clubs had Talented Club Kids will be showcased throughout the evening with performances and Youth Awards. The highlight of the evening will be the announcement of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast "Youth of the Year."

The 13th Annual Steak & Stake Dinner is Chaired by Harrison County Supervisor Connie Rockco, Co-Chair for the event is Mickey Parenton, Sr. Vice President of Casino Operations for Grand Casino Biloxi. Over 500 community leaders, elected officials, business leaders, and Club Members are expected to attend this year's event.

Last year the Clubs had over 3,000 registered members ranging in age from six to eighteen, and served thousands of additional youth through various Outreach Programs in Harrison and Hancock Counties. The Boys & Girls Clubs of the Gulf Coast, a United Way agency, will directly benefit from all proceeds generated from this event. Funds raised will assist in costs associated with operational, programming and outreach services for the Club's five units and activity center.

If you would like to donate an auction item, purchase a seat, or sponsor a table at one of our sponsorship levels ranging from $500 to $5,000, please call 228-374-2330.

AT CHALMETTE, NURSING IS OUR BADGE OF HONOR.

Ethel Hazet cares for CMC's patients as a dedicated LPN in our Med/Surg department, but her commitment to others doesn't stop there. Ethel is an active member of the Greater St. Stephen Full Gospel Baptist Church where she volunteers for the church's Big Brothers and Big Sisters program, which helps to orient new members. Also through her church, Ethel works with the Purity Vows ministry, helping widowed, divorced and single people rebuild their spiritual lives. And as if that weren't enough, she puts her beliefs into action by cleaning house for the elderly.

Ethel Hazet's caring for others reaches into her community and touches lives. We're glad that she is part of our nursing team at Chalmette Medical Center. We're proud of all of our CMC nurses... because their gift of caring continues long after their hospital shift ends.

If you're that one-of-a-kind nurse, we would like you to consider becoming a part of our dedicated group of nurses at CMC.

Rouge, said the students' participation in the camp was to give them an opportunity to gain experience in marine studies.

"The intent was to give them practice experience about what (scientists) do," Lee said.

The last day of the program found them in Bay St. Louis Friday near the Washington St. pier in front of Da Beach House for a day of kayaking and marsh exploration.

David Triplett, a camp instructor, said the campers would be doing other marine related activities, as well.

"We're bringing out a group of kids and doing water studies, like testing the water's salinity and pH. We also take core samples to see what's living under the sand," he said.

Triplett, who has worked with the Scott Marine Foundation for nine years, said that the campers also went on other excursions to locations around the Gulf Coast, such as Ship Island.

"Classes at the center are held on Mondays and Wednesdays. Tuesdays and Thursdays are field days."

Nasheeka Netter, a student from Baton Rouge, said she was enjoying her time on the Coast.

"It's been fun and a good experience. It's also the first time I've ever been so close to a stingray before," she said.

The Project Marine Discovery Sea camp is a week-long series of excursions and activities around the Gulf Coast.

The camp lasts all summer, and there are two sessions remaining, one beginning on July 12 and the other on July 26.

Colleen Read, who owns Da Beach House with her husband Todd, said they were thrilled to work with the Marine Center.

"A couple of years ago, we met with the center to see how we could work with them on their educational projects. Da Beach House has always been education-based."

Read said that they had helped organize other excursions around Hancock County waterways in the past for other camp sessions.

"It's a real privilege for us to work with the Scott Marine center's educational programs."

Further information about the Project Marine Discovery Sea Camp can be found at www.usm.edu/aquarium/pmdseamp.htm.

Garden

Unfortunately, its botanical name isn't any better: Salvia uliginosa. I'll bet you 10 bucks when you first read the name you thought it would be pronounced Salvia ugly-a-nosa, instead of Salvia u-lig-a-nosa.

The bog sage is native to the South American countries of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina and is starting to bloom all over the state in gardens where perennials are cherished. It is cold-hardy and heat tolerant over the entire state. It thrives in full sun but will tolerate a little shade as well.

One of the taller salvias for the garden, the bog sage can reach 6 to 7 feet high and produces rare, sky-blue flowers. It is just starting to bloom now and will keep up this flower production until frost. A little deadheading and cutting back will keep the flowers coming, as well as the ruby-throated hummingbirds that feast on its nectar.

Despite the name that makes it sound like it will grow in water, you should plant in well-drained, fertile soil. While preparing the soil, incorporate 2 pounds of a slow-release, 12-6-6 fertilizer per 100 square feet of planting area. You'll want to space these plants 20 to 42 inches apart and place them to the back of the border.

Established plants need a light application of fertilizer in the spring with the emergence of new growth and about every eight weeks through September. The bog sage will need dividing to keep its aggressive nature in check. I prefer to divide the clump when growth is resuming in the spring.

The bog sage has been planted in an old cottage garden in front of a white picket fence topped with an antique rose. Like Zepherine Drouhin or perhaps New Dawn. Plant it with Early Sunrise coreopsis, Becky Shasta daisies or Bravado purple coneflowers. It also looks striking when grown in combination with Coronation Gold Yarrow, which will serve as a midlevel plant, and Homestead Purple verbena as the lower-level plant.

Don't let the name throw you - this is an outstanding perennial. Because finding the bog sage will likely take some searching on your part, make the hunting really pay off by looking for Rudbeckia triloba (three-lobed black-eyed Susan), Salvia involucrata (Pink bulbous sage) and Verbena bonariensis ("Verbena on a Stick"). All of these are great perennial plants sadly in need of new names. But as Juliet said, "What's in a name?"

have a rather stylish courtship. The male tempts the female with a small bit of fish.

Once convinced that that handsome male with the delicious piece of fish hanging from his bill is her one and only, the female accepts his advances and together they produce a single brood before going their separate ways in August and migrate to Mexico, a sort of Mexican divorce.

However, the terns on our beach don't seem to be mating. Considering the beach traffic of people with dogs this is probably a good thing, since least tern eggs are laid in unlined nests on the sand. The eggs and small nesting bird are so well camouflaged that the nest is invisible till you step on it, and guzzling eggs is the specialty of any well-gened dog, which is the reason for the aggressive protection of the least tern nesting areas in Harrison County.

It is possible that the beach traffic psychologically inhibits the gulls from making nests here. If there were nests, it would be interesting to walk on our beach since the terns protect their nests by actively harassing any person or animal they regard as a possible predator, dive bombing, strafing, and if all else fails defecating on these intruders.

All this mating to-do has not appeared to have happened with this group as yet. Just noisy terns yelling and carrying on as if they are having one large, continuous party. However, every so often I see a tern with a bit of fish in its mouth flitting along, sort of hopeful.

There was a problem that led to the species decline due to over hunting (for their plumage, mostly for hats), but this is no longer the case and in the coastal areas the least terns are no longer on the endangered list at this time.

Threatened is the term most widely used when referring to these coastal least terns.

Which may be true, but these terns don't look threatened. They look happy and having carved out a little piece of our beach as their own, I think they will renew their lease next year.

I'll be looking for them. They are noisy, but you get used to them and, like I said, they are pretty to watch.

HANCOCK COUNTY 4-H MARKSMEN CLUB

The Hancock County 4-H Marksmen Club, which has been in existence since 1958, held its annual meeting on April 24 at the Starkville Gun Club.

The members of the shooting club met and practiced on the range at Starkville on Thursday, April 22, and on Friday, April 23. During these practices, the coaching volunteers not only helped the members with their shooting techniques but continually stressed firearm safety. The members participating in practices were James Craft, Carley Dossett, Molly Freeman, Jacob Freeman, Laura Henley, Loretta Henley, Anthony Holland, Chase Ladner, Jacob Ladner, Dillon Ladner, Dwight Lee, Daniel Luxich, Eric Madere, Chris Mathews, Brent McCardle, Meagan Necaise, Samuel Necaise, Ben Roberts, Bryce Salles, and Jeffrey Smith.

On April 22, the club held their county competition, which gave the first timers some practice in what to expect at an actual competition and those experienced participants a refresher on rules and regulations. In the 22 Rifle discipline, first place (Jr. 2) Dillon Ladner, first place (Jr. 3) Bryce Salles and second place,

Jeffrey Smith, first place (Sr. 1) Meagan Necaise and first place (Sr. 2) Daniel Luxich. Shotgun results were as follows: Jr. 2 first place, Dillon Ladner, second place, Eric Madere, and third place, Jake Ladner. The Junior 3 winners were Bryce Salles and Jeffrey Smith tying for first place. Senior 1 winners were Meagan Necaise, first place, Jacob Freeman, second place, and Laura Henley, third place. In the Senior 2 division, Loretta Henley, first place, Daniel Luxich and Samuel Necaise, second place, Brent McCardle and Dwight Lee, third place, Molly Freeman (Jr. 1) won first in the Air Rifle and Meagan Necaise (Sr. 1) won first in archery.

The South Region 4-H

Field and Stream Shoot was held on April 24, 2004 at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Training Facility in Pearl, MS. Those eligible to qualify for the 4-H State Invitational Shoot in Starkville and West Point, MS are only members in the Senior 1 and 2-age group. Twelve members of the club, along with family, friends and coaches, traveled to Pearl for the event. There were over 400 participants from the south region at the meet. Even with the tough competition, all of our participants can be proud of their results. Jacob Ladner, age ten, distinguished himself by placing first in his age group for the South Region in shotgun hitting 12 out of the required 15 skeet. In promoting excellence in 4-H, the Starkville Gun Club, which hosted the shotgun competition at the State Invitational Shoot, invited Jacob along with 18 other juniors to the State Invitational to be held on June 8, 2004. These nineteen youngsters shot or tied the top three scores in the North and South qualifying events. It is a huge honor to be invited to the state competition as a junior. Congratulations are in order for Jacob.

When not competing, the Hancock club members, family and friends gathered at the club's refreshment area. The tent, provided by Mr. and Mrs. David Salles, was a lifesaver from the sun and provided some much needed shade relief. Refreshments, snacks, and lunch were provided by PATH (The Partnership for a Healthy Mississippi Hancock and Pearl River Counties). Mrs. Gloria Necaise, Program Director, and Mrs. Marcia Freeman, Assistant Program Director of the PATH made this generous donation possible.

Seniors qualifying to go to the State Invitational in shotgun were Samuel Necaise and Daniel Luxich. Daniel also qualified in 22 rifle and archery. Because of prior or last minute conflicting obligations, none of our members were able to attend the state shoot.

Advertising is an investment in the success of your business. Every business has some kind of competition, either within the town, nearby city or from mail order firms. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and buy elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their trading from one store to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your store.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your store. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know the product lines you carry, the quality of your merchandise, the completeness of your service and the character of your store.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community.

Facts About The PARABLE
BY JOHN ZENTI

THE SCENE OF A PARABLE!
ASCENDING FROM THE JORDAN VALLEY TO THE HILL COUNTRY IS A STEEP PASS ADJACENT TO THE SCENE OF THE PARABLE OF THE GOOD SAMARITAN. THE MAPS THE BOUNDARY BETWEEN JUDAH AND BENJAMIN AND THE SHORTEST AND MOST TRAVELED ROAD FROM JERUSALEM TO JERCHO. BECAUSE IT WAS SUCH A MUCH TRAVELED ROUTE FOR CARRIAGES IT BECAME, THROUGH THE CENTURIES, A HIGH SPOT FOR ROBBERIES AND BRISANDS TO PIN THEIR NEFARIOUS TRICKS. IN FACT, EVERY JERCHO ASSURED THE ORIGIN OF ITS NAME TO THE BLOOD SO FREQUENTLY SPILLED THERE BY THE HAWKISH THIEVES AS THEY PASSED THE LOOK FROM THEIR VICTIMS. NO WONDER THAT IT WAS THE SCENE OF JESUS' PARABLE OF THE GOOD SAMARITAN.

What's your beef about?

It's about the all-in-the-name, hot-dog-and-bean sandwich, the corned beef and cabbage, the turkey legs and the fried chicken. It's about the fact that these foods are not only delicious, but they are also a part of our heritage. They are the foods that our grandparents ate, and they are the foods that we should be eating today.

Reflections on Life

by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

July 4 is the preeminent time of the year for outside grilling, barbecuing and baking corn, potatoes and beans, either in one's own back yard, in a community park or in a fishing area. Memorial Day is but a warm-up time, and Labor Day is an end time. In high heat, July 4 catches the spirit of summer in full stride, with many celebrations to come.

More than any other ingredient or component of life, food is used as a great equalizer, a common denominator, an efficient ice-breaker for people who don't know each other, a backdrop for celebrations, and a merrymaker employing an infinite variety of flavors, preparations, combinations and aromas which fire people up to sing and dance for joy.

What's a party, anyway, without succulent dips, chips, assorted foods, desserts and drinks? Without these, conversation, tall tales, anecdotes and jokes fall a bit flat or do not in particular are a formidable manifestation of sinus-afflicting phlegm.

As I listen to folks catalog their woes, I can simultaneously see their stuffed nose or runny nose condition, their severe wheezing, their labored breathing, their stiff joints, and their touch of claudication which impedes their ascent and descent of stairs.

Worse, I watch some of my relatives, friends and acquaintances eat beef or pork, and immediately come down with severe, sometimes crippling arthritic and gout symptoms.

Worst of all, I see almost everyone ignore examples like Thurman Taylor, a prostate cancer victim with a PSA count over 100, a bad back of 25 years, an acidic stomach of 25 years, and a disabled left hand, totally cured in two months by dropping animal products.

Who can ignore the startling reality that zero animal products equate with near zero cancer of the colon, prostate and breast, plus near zero diabetes, hypertension, gout, arthritis, heart disease. This is witnessed most strongly in some poor, developing nations which have very little meat or other animal products. They have never heard of cancer.

Until I dropped meats, seafoods and dairy products eight years and two months ago, my prostate was in poor shape, my muscles were deteriorating in strength, my sinuses were savaging my head and my chest, my fingers often ached and my legs were weak.

At three weeks, then in eight months, all those things were healed, so that my body feels about the way it did in 1986. I praise and thank God that most foods smell and look so good, and yet I do not miss them because of the huge benefits I have experienced.

Food merchants, of course, know exactly where and how to hit us, especially since they have already set us up anyway to crave fats, salts and sugars. They frontload, inload and backload all their foods with disguised, generous amounts of all three of the craved.

With this huge, traditional background of foods and drinks for all occasions and all kinds of celebrations, we poor little human beings strive with might and main to have the best of both worlds. Naturally, we prize and want our health. That said, however, we want to stretch as far as possible into the never-never land of both feasting and health.

As you are well aware, these two are quite incompatible, so that if you are very strong on the one you will almost certainly prejudice the other. So you will more than likely be either very healthy or be in deteriorating health, though quite excited in your feasting.

Hence, our perpetual tinkering with a staggering array of diets which keep alive our hope of enjoying the best of both worlds. We will opt for whatever diet appears to be the most likely to enable us to rationalize the near impossible feat of good health, good feast.

Protein-rich diets like the Atkins Diet afford us the great taste of meats, etc., and they do millions of people a lot of good, since weight loss automatically helps us in our struggles

Opinion Says

By Ed Young

Care for lost people as much as lost pets

This writer had an experience in which a truth was revealed to me.

I was at a shopping center where I saw the "dog catcher" had a sizable dog in a cage. I looked at the animal and knew before the week was out he would be destroyed. Unless he was rescued. That caged animal and his probable fate troubled me.

Then I thought of the multitude of friends, relatives, people we meet from time to time who do not have eternal life. They are in as much locked in a cage of doom.

We seem to care more about the treatment of animals than the salvation of our fellow man.

For one thing, religion has many believing they are in fine spiritual condition with the almighty. They are instructed from early age they are Christians. In the

The Lord Opened Her Heart

A lot of people make a great fuss over the Bible and what it says about Jesus Christ. But those fundamentalists do seem a little extreme in their thinking. What they say really doesn't make sense.

It's not logical. Very true! But don't those who reject the Bible and the Christ of the Bible also have a certain mind set? Sure they do and so they cannot understand the Bible. Interestingly enough, the Bible talks about people like this. It says, "A natural man does not accept the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot understand them" (2 Corinthians 2:14). So if you are not a Christian and have not received the gift of the Holy Spirit, your mind is unable to grasp the meaning of the Bible. You need some supernatural help from God. You need to ask God to open your heart and mind so that you will be able to understand the Bible. Long ago, when Jesus taught people from the Old Testament in the Bible, "He opened their minds to understand the Scriptures" (Luke 24:45). The apostle Paul saw the same thing happen to people when he spoke to them about Christ. Acts 16:14 tell us, "A certain woman named Lydia...was listening; and the Lord opened her heart to respond to the things spoken by Paul." Imagine, Jesus Christ, reaching down from heaven, opened this woman's mind and heart so that she would understand what Paul was preaching. If you do not understand the message of the Bible, you need the same kind of radical heart surgery. Talk to God about it.

E. Hancock Talented and Gifted students create own art gallery

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Ms. Ruth Pulsifer's Talented and Gifted Class created an art gallery to share with their fellow students at East Hancock Elementary.

The gallery contained original artwork displays from their unit of study on the elements of art as well as Master's Pieces.

The class began the unit by studying various artists and art elements which included lines, shapes and color. Using the Lines of Piet Mondrian as an example, they then created a Mondrian masterpiece.

The students completed a painted parrot after learning about color and the color wheel. The unit continued with a study of texture, space and value. Pablo Picasso's Shades of Gray and Color inspired the students to create another masterpiece example.

They completed the unit study with an in depth look at Heiri Matisse's Strange Shapes and Textures. In addition to the gallery artwork, the class made individual portfolios of famous artist facts and art examples.

Pass Christian student graduates from Dartmouth

Beau P. Saccoccia, from Pass Christian, a member of the class of 2004, graduated from Dartmouth College, one of more than 1,000 students receiving Bachelor of Arts degrees at the Spring 2004 Commencement exercises.

Charlotte's Web presented by Wings Performing Arts Program

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Join WINGS Performing Arts Program for a musical version of everyone's favorite story of Wilbur the pig and his spider friend Charlotte. E. B. White's classic book celebrates friendship, peace and the miracle of the web. The one hundred member cast includes musicians, singers, dancers, actors and technical staff of all ages from across the coast.

Tonya Hays & Joseph Williams and the directors of the production: Donna Miller, producer; Twyla Moore, choreographer; Elizabeth Foley, musical director; Megan Van Dyke, technical director and Liz Kerlin, assistant technical director. Cast members are Priscilla George, Ben Bowden, Laura Lynn Needle, Aubrey Hays, Michael Wigginton, William Balus, Cynthia Wigginton, Ricky Johnson, Jared Fusia, Te-J Thompson, Conner Evans, Ashton Polk, Hallie Darphin, Katie Tully, Katie Miller, Stephanie Grammar, Shelby Harriel, Taylor Bertrand, Kristine Winter, Zachary Taylor, Lacey Jones, Hilary Herr, Hannah Frazier, Jason Balus, Molly Balus, Rebecca Johnson, Christina George, Molly Evans, Gabbie Bowden, Kendyll Palermo, Allison Rivers, Sylvia Brown, John Kenworthy, Margaret Bernheim, Joseph Amacker, Rebecca Oliver, Lindsey Polk, Jordan Miller, Michaela Moore, Hannah Banks, Savanna Harrison, Mallory Myers, Audrey Kim, Garec Knott, Kaila Banks, James Brumbaugh, Abby Donaldson, Skylar

Charlotte the Spider, Lacey Jones, right, and Wilbur the Pig, Conner Evans, from "Charlotte's Web" presented by WINGS Performing Arts Program, July 15-18.

Performances are at the Theatre at MS Gulf Coast Community College, Jefferson Davis Campus in Gulfport. Shows for summer camp groups are Thursday and Friday, July 15 and at 16 at 10:00 AM and 1:00 PM. Community shows are Saturday, July 17 at 7:00 & Sunday, July 18 at 2:00. Admission is $4.00 for children and $6.00 for adults.

This production is in cooperation with Mississippi Arts Commission, the National Endowment for the Arts and the MGM Mirage Voice Foundation. For more information call the Discovery Center at 897-6039, ext. 22.

Beau Rivage steps up to the plate for the Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art

Beau Rivage Resort & Casino announced today a total commitment of $1 million to the Ohr-O'Keefe Museum of Art for the annual Ohr Gala. In return for the additional $500,000 donation over the next five years, Beau Rivage is eligible for a $1 million naming opportunity of the primary pod in the new George Ohr Gallery, pending the Museum Board of Trustees' approval. That pod will be a Frank Gehry interpretation of the Mad Potter's circa 1900 pottery studio.

"Beau Rivage is a big supporter of Ohr, and we are proud of our association in this project," said Jeff Dahl, Beau Rivage President. "This contribution has been under consideration for some time, and with the renewed effort to expand support from the community, the timing is perfect."

"With this commitment, Beau Rivage issues a challenge to other companies and individuals to increase their contributions in order to get this museum built," said Dahl. "And for those who have yet to give, the time is now."

Roland Weeks, Director of Development, also noted that major foundations around the country look to major private contributions such as Beau Rivage's as they consider funding of the Frank Gehry-designed museum project, expected to draw over 125,000 visitors every year.

"Of excitement building from today's article in the Sun Herald we are delighted that the local community has committed," said Roland Weeks. "Everyone stepping up to the plate, donors of all sizes, brick campaign for families they all will go along way. Large foundations and donors do not like to give if they know the local community isn't behind the project."

"I'm certainly pleased that Beau Rivage has made this contribution," said Jerry O'Keefe, Building Fund Chairman.

"This is very exciting news," said Board President Judy Steckler. "This commitment from Beau Rivage demonstrates their dedication to this community and to this museum, and the next five years are the most crucial for the development of the new Gehry-designed museum. We hope this gift will spur more donations from everyone."

This year was the fifth of a five-year fundraising commitment to the museum, and the new pledge will take the popular gala, arguably the event of the year on the coast through 2009. This year's Gala is scheduled for Saturday, October 16, and advance tickets may be purchased at the museum, 228.374.5547, ext. 12.

Celebrity Scoop

Beth Littleford

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Beth Littleford says she isn't offended when a TV critic calls "Method & Red," her new Fox sitcom, "surprisingly funny."

"It sounds like very weak praise," says Littleford, who plays nervous white realtor Nancy Blaford on the Wednesday night comedy series, "but people look at the premise - 'Black rappers move into an exclusive white neighborhood' - and immediately think they've seen it before, so they're surprised to discover how smart and unpredictable it really is. This has turned into something I'm really very proud of."

Widely acknowledged herself as a very smart comedy veteran, Littleford has warm praise for co-stars Method Man and Redman and their confident style.

"I have two theories about that," she says. "First, a star is a star, period, but also, I think that rappers, because of their style, just may have an intuitive grasp of comedy rhythms that a lot of other people don't have."

After growing up outside Orlando, Fla., Littleford headed north for college, ending up in New York, where she struggled in serious plays before segueing into comedy. An acclaimed one-woman off-Broadway show caught the eye of Comedy Central executives, who hired her as a field correspondent for "The Daily Show."

"A lot of people don't understand that I was acting," she says of her comically confrontational interviews during her four years on that show.

"It was actually very stressful, because I would bond with the people I was to interview, then I was expected to be very tough on them during the on-air piece. I tried hard to help them understand that we were doing a parody, but I could tell some people thought I had set them up."

Born: July 17, 1968, in Winter Park, Fla.
Education: Swarthmore College; the Tisch School at New York University.

Marital status: Married to Rob Fox, a former producer of "The Daily Show," since 1998.

Big break: Her one-woman New York stage show, "This Is Where I Get Off," led to her being hired as a field correspondent on Comedy Central's "The Daily Show."

TV guest appearances: "Spin City" (recurring role), "Boston Public," "Life With Bonnie," "Still Standing," "Greetings From Tucson," "Andy Richter Controls the Universe," "Frasier."

Film credits: Include "Mystery, Alaska," "A Cool, Dry Place" and "Picture This."

The 'Road Trip' never ends for co-host Tina Maddigan

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

She's a native Canadian, but Tina Maddigan is getting a big taste of the United States.

A former star of the Toronto and Broadway stagings of the ABBA-inspired musical "Mamma Mia!" Maddigan now racks up many miles exploring routes around the country for the Travel Channel series "Road Trip."

Past editions took Maddigan and co-host Steven Lee from Memphis to New Orleans, Albuquerque to Aspen and Las Vegas to Los Angeles. A wave of new episodes begins Tuesday, July 13, picking up in Los Angeles and heading to San Francisco.

"Steve and I are secretly hoping there might be a road trip to Italy, a road trip to Russia ...," the friendly, enthusiastic Maddigan says. Complications arose during initial planning of a "Road Trip" to Vancouver, British Columbia, which Maddigan regrets. "We would have made that city look so great, because these cameramen are just awesome. In high-definition TV, it would have been amazing."

Although they've already gotten their kicks on the legendary Route 66, Maddigan and Lee have lots of American roads left to discover. "Even though we know where we're going, there's still plenty of room for surprise once we get there," Maddigan says. "There are important details we need to get out when we go to famous sites, but when it comes to things like white-water rafting or rock climbing, Steve and I go pretty much off-script."

After being rejected for an ushering job, Maddigan auditioned for "Mamma Mia!" at the same theater and landed the role she played for nearly four years and more than 3,000 performances. Two weeks before leaving the show, she was signed for "Road Trip."

On the beach with USA's missing persons saga 'The 4400'

By Kate O'Hara
C Zap2it

It's a Friday morning on the shores of a lake about 40 minutes outside of Vancouver, Canada. A steady rain has slowed to a sprinkle, but the air is cold, the ground is soaked, and a layer of fresh snow tops the cloud-shrouded mountains leading down to the water.

Under the "video village" tent at the lakeside location, producers Maira Suro and Scott Peters of the new USA Network limited series "The 4400," peer at oversized, flat-screen monitors showing the live feed from the high-definition cameras.

A little girl called Maia (Conchita Campbell) in a 1940s-style frock stands on the beach, a group of confused people in costumes from different eras and cultures behind her. Special-effects fog pumped across the scene curls around Maia and the others. With the white tendrils of mist, the gray-brown beach, the silvered water and the frosted peaks, the monitors present a nearly monochromatic, almost painterly image.

"These monitors make watching dailies less necessary," Suro says, "because you've seen it. Visually, it's pretty stunning."

Premiering with a two-hour episode on Sunday, July 11, and continuing for four more weeks, until Aug. 8, "The 4400" chronicles the ripple effect of the sudden return of 4,400 people who mysteriously vanished at various points over the last century. For the "returnees," no time has passed since they vanished, and they have no memory of where they've been.

But clearly something has happened to these people, because many return with superhuman abilities, including great strength, precognition and a healing touch.

According to Suro ("Platinum") and Peters ("The Outer Limits"), the idea originally pitched to Fox, but ultimately rejected, is to track the sociological, scientific and human consequences of the attempt by these displaced souls to reintegrate themselves into their families and society.

Along with writer-executive producer Peters and executive producer Suro, executive producer Rene Echavarria ("Dark Angel") contributed to the development of the pilot, and Ira Steven Behr ("Star Trek: Deep Space Nine") has joined the team as an executive producer and the principal show-runner. "The 4400" is a Viacom Production in association with Francis Ford Coppola's American Zoetrope and Renegade 83.

The large cast includes Peter Coyote ("E.T.: The Extra-Terrestrial") as Dennis Ryland, supervisor of the federal agency created to investigate and oversee the 4,400; Joel Gretsch ("Taken") as Tom Baldwin, Ryland's subordinate, whose nephew, Shawn (Patrick Flueger), is a returnee; Jacqueline McKenzie as Diana Skouris, a federal agent with a medical background, who is partnered with Tom; Matheriah Alhashbaz Ali as Richard Tyler, a black Air Force pilot who vanished in 1951; Laura Allen as Lily Moore, who vanished in 1993 and is the granddaughter of Tyler's lover; and Michael Moriarty as Orion Bailey, a man who vanished in 1979 and who returns with terrifying and deadly abilities.

"USA has been so supportive of the human drama that the show brings," Suro says, "so we've continued to play to that. Sixty percent of the show is about those human moments."

Joel Gretsch and Jacqueline McKenzie play federal agents assigned to investigate the mysterious appearance of thousands of missing people in "The 4400," premiering Sunday on USA Network.

"If you have cardboard cutouts for characters and lots of special effects, who cares?" Peters says.

USA originally ordered the two-hour pilot produced, then ordered four more scripts, so the producers designed the story to accommodate the six-hour format, while still keeping doors open for the future.

"Before we even began this process," Peters says, "we knew where it was going to end, in terms of the arc. It wasn't just throwing weirdness out for weirdness' sake, not knowing how we're going to solve this at the end. This is so much fun, doing a serialization and seeing the characters develop from beginning to end, rather than just wrapping it up at the end of 60 minutes and going, 'Well, that's all done.'"

Beach won't return to NBC's 'Third Watch'

By Taylor Michaels
C Zap2it

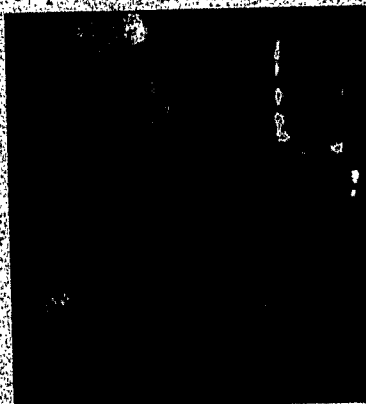

Q Will Michael Beach return to "Third Watch" next season? Beth M. Gurnes, Ill.

A No. As fans of the series know, Beach's character, Monte "Doc" Parker, never fully recovered from the trauma of the 9/11 terrorist attacks. Doc eventually suffered a breakdown and was relieved of his duties. An NBC publicist confirms the character has been written out of the show.

Such a loss is keenly felt by fans of the NBC series, but Beach's departure is consistent with "Third Watch" producers' intent to emphasize that these gallant characters pay a steep personal price as public servants.

Q My entire family loves the weird little Six Flags man who dances around so frenetically in the commercial spots for the theme parks. Who is that, anyway, and what is that music he is dancing to? Ellen K., Ind.

A I can tell you that there isn't a recognizable celebrity under all that makeup, but otherwise, Six Flags officials are keeping a tight lid on any information about the figure at the heart of the company's first national advertising campaign in seven years. Executives explain that they want the gnomish little guy to serve as an icon representing "family fun."

Six Flags does, however, identify the song in these popular spots as being "We Like to Party" by the Vengaboys.

This is certainly not the first time a company has declined to reveal the personal identity of a performer who is prominently featured in a popular ad campaign. As of this writing, Verizon still refuses to release any personal information about the "Can you hear me now?" guy in its TV spots.

Q What happened to Edd Hall, Jay Leno's "Tonight Show" announcer? He just disappeared, and everyone is asking: Hutch and Eleanor via e-mail.

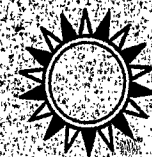

A NBC and the producers of the late-night series made no secret of the fact that Hall left "The Tonight Show" after 12 years in order to pursue some movie offers. It was Hall's choice to leave, and his parting was amicable.

'Stargate Atlantis' gets its feet wet Friday on Sci-Fi

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

If an actor can't stand the color green, he or she should avoid working in science fiction. Similarly, aversions to feeling silly, reacting to nothing, or being stuffed in cramped spaces for many hours are not conducive to a career in that genre.

"I've been in the puddle-jumper all day," 'Stargate Atlantis' star Rachel Luttrell says. "I'm well-acquainted with the puddle-jumper!"

Luttrell - whose character, Teyla, is a human from a world in a distant galaxy - has been cooped up in the tight confines of a set that looks like a small spaceship, doing seemingly endless takes of battle scenes against the ships of evil, rapacious creatures called Wraiths, represented by dots on a green-screen background.

In fact, when "Stargate Atlantis" premieres with a two-hour episode on Friday, July 16, on Sci-Fi Channel, there won't be anything reminiscent of the planet Earth. That is, except for pine trees, the inevitable consequence of shooting in the forests around Vancouver, Canada.

For seven seasons now (No. 8 started last week), Sci-Fi's "Stargate SG-1" has been using ancient alien portals to send American military teams through wormholes onto distant worlds - but always returning back to a base on Earth. "Atlantis" begins on Earth then goes far, far away.

In the opening episode, "SG-1" regulars Gen. Jack O'Neill (Richard Dean Anderson) and archaeologist Daniel Jackson (Michael Shanks) head down to Antarctica to help diplomat Dr. Elizabeth Weir (Torri Higginson, replacing Jessica Steen, who played Dr. Weir last season on "SG-1") explore a newly discovered portal and some super-powerful alien hardware.

Before long, Weir and astrophysicist Dr. Rodney McKay (David Hewlett, reprising his "SG-1" role) discover that the portal leads to the fabled lost city of Atlantis, which, as it turns out, is in the Pegasus Galaxy (in the "Stargate" universe, most myths have alien origins).

Reckoning they have enough power for a one-way trip, Weir assembles a team of military personnel and scientists to explore the city. The military contingent includes two pilots, Major John Sheppard (Joe Flanigan), who has a genetic ability to interface with the alien technology (and a problem with authority), and the eager Lt. Alden Ford (Rainbow Sun Francks). Their commander is Col. Marshall Sumner (guest star Robert Patrick), who isn't nuts about answering to the civilian Weir - who has bigger problems than Sumner's ego.

"Right now," Higginson says, "Weir is so excited and overwhelmed at this opportunity. Eight months ago, she didn't know Stargates existed, so this is brand new to her. She learns that aliens exist, and now she's having a conversation with them.

"It's a huge mental leap. I'm having a hard time doing it in television. I can't imagine doing it in real life."

Once arriving at Atlantis - a sleek set that combines Frank Lloyd Wright elements into a sort of "Allen Deco" - Weir and her team learn that Atlantis, which has been slumbering for eons, is not quite equipped to handle the visitors. So, exploration begins immediately for fresh sources of power.

"Atlantis" does not take place underwater, says executive producer-writer Brad Wright, who also works on "SG-1." "However, to find the city of Atlantis, it is underwater.

"We made up our own Atlantean mythology. If it's based on anything, it's based on the mythology we created in the 'Stargate' universe, of the Ancients. So Atlantis was a city of the Ancients. When we find it, it's pristine and untouched."

The team's first mission brings it into conflict with the pasty, insatiable Wraiths. These galactic baddies with serious dental issues hear about Earth and immediately start thinking of it as an all-you-can-eat buffet.

But Earth likely can rest easy for a little while, because, for practical and story reasons, Wright intends to keep the "Atlantis" crew off in the Pegasus Galaxy for at least the show's first season, during which "SG-1" will play out its eighth and supposedly final season (but never say never).

"Stargate Atlantis," premiering Friday on Sci-Fi Channel, stars (clockwise from top left) Rainbow Sun Francks, David Hewlett, Paul McGillion, Torri Higginson, Joe Flanigan and Rachel Luttrell.

"We fully expect to find our way back to Earth," Wright says. "We want that door open."

Along with the mythology, "Atlantis" keeps the storytelling style of "SG-1," which includes saving the galaxy one wisecrack at a time. It's a tradition that began in the original "Stargate" movie in 1994, with Kurt Russell as a cranky O'Neill, and continued with Anderson's droll, nonplussed O'Neill in the TV version.

In "Atlantis," the humor comes from the comedy duo of McKay and Scotsman Dr. Beckett (Paul McGillion), who can be counted upon to bounce one-liners off each other.

And one never knows, McKay just might wind up also being the romantic hero of the piece.

"I'm not saying there's no romance in Atlantis," Wright says. "I'm just saying that we're not starting off with presumptions about romances that are going to take place between our core characters. But I think that McKay, secretly or not-so-secretly, believes that all women want to be with him."

Reshuffled 'Wild Card' comes up aces in new season

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Fans of the elegant squabbling of Cybill Shepherd and Bruce Willis in "Moonlighting" are likely to embrace Lifetime's "Wild Card," which begins its second season Sunday, July 11, with nicely reshuffled style and priorities.

Although the series was a soft hit in its first season on the cable channel, "Wild Card" initially suffered from an identity crisis. Then, as now, delightful Joely Fisher starred as Zoe Busiek, a Las Vegas casino dealer who gives up that flashy lifestyle to return home after her sister is killed in a car accident.

Those early episodes divided their focus between cozy domestic scenes of Zoe struggling to rear her sister's kids (Vikki Krinsky, Jamie Johnston and Aislynn Paul), and others set at the insurance company where Zoe investigated claims with colleague Dan Lennox (Chris Potter) and boss Sophia Mason (Rae Dawn Chong).

"We had to decide whether we were doing a family drama or 'Moonlighting,'" Fisher explains during a rare break in filming. "I remember as a kid loving 'Hart to Hart,' with the chemistry between them and bantering.

"That's what the network told us they wanted when they ordered this second season. When we deal with the children now, we do so sparingly and try to make them important, because it's hard to use kids for long hours, anyway. But the show now is focused on Zoe and Dan, with the addition of Loretta Devine - who is, indeed, divine, I have to say."

The former "Boston Public" cast member joins "Wild Card" this fall as the formidable and flamboyant M. Pearl McGuire, Zoe and Dan's new boss.

"Loretta can walk into a scene and just dazzle you, which is icing on the cake for us," Fisher says. "She definitely is a great foil for me. Rae Dawn was delightful as both a human being and an actress, but Zoe is just such a strong character that she needs a strong woman to go toe-to-toe with, especially if this character is supposed to be my boss. After all, someone has to push Zoe around or, let's face it, she's going to take over the world!"

"Lifetime requested, and the new writers have delivered, stories that are a little edgier, with a sense that there's more at stake, more Zoe and Dan in peril. Some of the cases last year were a little lightweight, and we're very excited about this new direction."

Nevertheless, Fisher has learned to be careful what she wishes for, because while "Wild Card" is tailor-made for her considerable charm and crackerjack comic timing, the show also uses her in almost every scene.

"It's so nuts," she sighs. "People in Los Angeles go, 'Why can't you call me?' and I try to explain that every minute I am not in every frame of this show, I am spending it with my daughter."

"We did the pilot, and I came away wondering, 'Hmm, this is interesting. I wonder if all the (episodes) will be (so time-consuming). But I was told that the show naturally would move to more of an ensemble piece - you know, the kind of thing you see on basically every show except, maybe, 'Alias.' That's the bill they sold me."

"Blessedly, however, viewers really responded to Zoe and her relationship with Dan, so they focused on that. I'm proud that it happened, although I keep saying, 'Guys, come on, write a scene that I'm not in. OK?'"

Joely Fisher shines as Zoe Busiek, a casino dealer-turned-insurance fraud investigator in "Wild Card." Lifetime's hit comedy-drama series returns Sunday for a second season, albeit with some changes in both tone and casting, as Zoe's domestic life takes a back seat to romance.

British Open golfers in for 'stern examination' at Troon

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

Three words on its Web site - "stern golfing examination" - tell you all you need to know about Royal Troon Golf Club, site of this year's British Open.

"I totally agree - it's a very stern test of golf," says ABC's Ian Baker-Finch, the 1991 British Open champ and course reporter who will be in Ayrshire, Scotland, for coverage of the 133rd championship, which airs Thursday through Sunday, July 15-18, on TNT and ABC.

"It's a gentle start, culminating in a ferocious finish, and the wind, as it was back in 1997 (when Troon last hosted it), is brutal. From memory, I'm sure the back nine averaged well over 40 on that first day. It's very hard to get it in the fairway. The fairways are tricky, almost like last year where there are very few flat spots in the fairways. And typically they'll get the course very, very hard and dry, which means the ball finishes in the rough the majority of the time. It's very hard to get the ball to stop on the fairway."

So all in all, it looks as though it could be a very long four days on the links for the likes of Ernie Els, Tiger Woods, Vijay Singh, Phil Mickelson, Justin Leonard, defending tournament champion Ben Curtis and other top players. But it's not as if they haven't seen tough conditions in a major before.

Last month at Long Island's Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, U.S. Open golfers watched in frustration as their putts rolled off rock-hard greens, the result of drying winds. Players griped in the press and to the USGA about what they felt was an unfair course, but the USGA's answer was in essence, "That's golf."

Might we see similar conditions - and life - at Troon? "Well, hopefully not as bad as Shinnecock," Baker-Finch says, "but you could be looking at a scenario like last year with the course at the Open at Royal St. George's, where the fairways were very burned off, the course was almost totally brown and hard and fast, and you just have to put up with bounces. I think when it gets too much that way, a lot of luck gets involved, and I think the U.S. Open got that way toward the end."

The (Shinnecock Hills) course was at its best late in the day, whereas normally it's the other way around, because they had to water the greens. As they watered the greens throughout the day, the grass started to grow again and some of the players started to hole a few putts. But early in the day and middle of the day, it was impossible to hole putts, and if they went in, they were lucky not to roll off the greens.

"I don't think they can get the greens as quick in the British Open courses as they do over here," Baker-Finch continues. "I don't think the grass is capable of being cut down as low as that. So typically, you see lots of hard, bouncy fairways and greens, but not quite as tricky to putt as they were at Shinnecock."

As for players he's watching at Troon, Baker-Finch says, "Obviously, you've got to go to someone like Ernie Els, who's been playing so well lately and he plays so well in the Open championship. Justin Leonard, who won there the last time - that type of player, who's a great wind player, fantastic around the greens. I think you'd better watch out for him again."

Padraig Harrington, he might be the guy from the British Isles who could do well on a course like this. He's a real grinder and he's in pretty good form. Darren Clarke did very well there last time, and if he can just fix his putting up, I think if he gets back on the greens that maybe he's a little more used to, he might show us his true form. I think it's just his putting that's been letting him down."

Singh, winner of the 1998 PGA Championship and 2000 Masters, could find Troon to his liking as well, Baker-Finch says. "He's playing great, but once again his putting's been letting him down. Maybe the greens being a fraction slower at Troon might suit Vijay. He'd dearly love to win a British Open championship to go with his other two majors."

Tiger Woods also could be ready to end his two-year majors drought. "Tiger's got something to prove," Baker-Finch says, "and I think his game's nowhere near as bad as a lot of the other media will make it seem. I think it might be just around the corner. His attitude was great at the U.S. Open, even though he shot 10-over in the tournament. He was grinding it out well, and you can never hold a good man down for too long."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, July 11 (NBC, 3:30 p.m. ET): Kevin Harvick's attempt at three straight Tropicana 400 wins came up dry a year ago when his car ran out of gas with two laps remaining. His fuel miscalculation helped Ryan Newman take the checkered flag in the 267-lap race at Chicagoland Speedway in Joliet, Ill., one of Newman's series-leading eight wins in 2003. Though he hasn't equaled that pace, Newman's top-10 standing after 15 races this year was eight spots better than his rank at the same point last season.

"MLB Baseball" Sunday, July 11 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): Just prior to the Midsummer Classic, stars of the Cubs and Cards will be on hand tonight in St. Louis when the division rivals close a three-game series. Injuries to top gun Sammy Sosa and pitchers Kerry Wood and Mark Prior have defined the Cubs' first half, yet they've remained within striking distance of the NL Central lead. Third baseman Aramis Ramirez has helped in that regard, while his counterpart, Scott Rolen, is having an even better offensive season.

"MLB Baseball" Tuesday, July 13 (Fox, 8 p.m. ET): All-Star Game votes have been cast by fans and now, their favorite players in the American and National Leagues take the field at Minute Maid Park in Houston for the traditional summer showdown. Joe Buck and Tim McCarver will be on the team of sportscasters as many of the top names in the sport try to do their respective teams and leagues proud.

Cheetahs: The Winning Streak

Although excellent hunters, Africa's cheetahs face stiff competition from lions and hyenas. This, combined with food shortages, has caused their numbers to dwindle. Cameras follow cheetahs as they perfect their hunting skills, particularly vulnerable mothers and cubs.

Saturday

6 a.m. on HBO

Movie: Tall Tale

When a greedy land developer (Scott Glenn) tries to snatch up the Hackett family farm, young Daniel (Nick Stahl) enlists the help of three Old West legends. In a dream sequence reminiscent of "The Wizard of Oz," Daniel joins forces with tornado-riding Pecos Bill (Patrick Swayze), lumberjack Paul Bunyan (Oliver Platt) and steel-driving strongman John Henry (Roger Aaron Brown). Catherine O'Hara also stars as Calamity Jane.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: The Miracle Worker

Halle Kate Eisenberg stars as young Helen Keller in this 2000 remake of the Tony-winning play. It can be a hard world out there for those who are different, but teacher Annie Sullivan (Allison Elliott, "The Spitfire") has a caring soul. She opens deaf and blind Helen's mind and heart with the gift of language. David Strathairn ("L.A. Confidential") and Lucas Black ("Sling Blade") also star.

TV Trivia

Sela Ward ("Catch a Falling Star") once wanted to be a flight attendant, but her fear of flying curtailed that, so she turned to modeling.

Wes Studi ("A Thief of Time") was drafted into the U.S. Army and spent 18 months serving in the Vietnam War.

Michael Moriarty ("The 4400") studied at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts and is an accomplished jazz pianist.

Lacey Chabert ("Hometown Legend") starred for two years as young Cosette in the Broadway production of "Les Miserables."

Gabriel Byrne ("End of Days") aspired to be a priest, but was kicked out of seminary school when he was caught smoking.

Movie: Catch a Falling Star

During a New England location shoot, a movie star (Sela Ward) catches her fiancé — also a movie star — with another woman and flees to the woods. After getting lost, she finds her way to a little steel-mill town where she gets an irresistible taste of life as an ordinary person. John Slattery, Jane Curtin and Rebecca Jenkins also star.

8 p.m. and USA

The 4400: Sela Ward, John Slattery

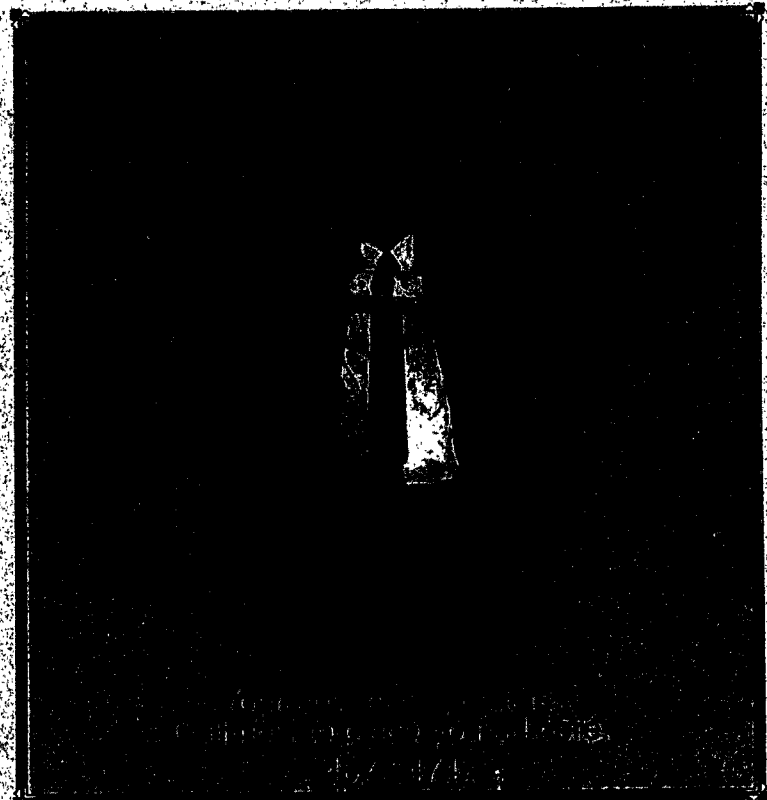

Government officials are mystified by thousands of missing people who suddenly reappear — without having aged from the time they vanished — in this new miniseries, which starts with a two-hour episode and continues on the four subsequent Sundays. Peter Coyote plays the chief of a related agency formed when one returnee turns murderous.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Mark McGrath, alias the frontman for Sugar Ray, guest stars as himself. He's playing at Montecito, and making Ed (James Caan), a little uneasy because of the time he's been spending with Jillian (Cheryl Ladd). Out on the floor, a guest's wallet full of winnings is stolen, while the security team tries to determine whether a mechanical problem or a clever gambler is behind a machine's overly high payout rate.

All My Children
Supported by her family and friends, Erica stopped herself from despairing and bonded with Kendall and Bianca. Bobby surprised Anna's trip with news of his success in business but was stunned to learn she's filed for divorce. Greenlee floored Kendall with her admission that Ryan was going to take Kendall back but then found her in bed with Jonathan. Greenlee and Ryan had to share a bed when Jonathan moved in. Jamie became suspicious of J.R. after spotting him with Seth, who he was paying to leave town. David also became wary of J.R.'s behavior and warned Babe. Zach privately hoped to get back together with Maria. Coming: Kendall decides to fight for Ryan.

As the World Turns

After Barbara appealed to James for help in making sure Jordan and Rosanna stay with each other, there were problems at Fairwinds, preventing Rosanna and Paul from acting on their attraction. Initially thrilled to learn that she's pregnant, Jessica was crushed to realize that the baby could be Doc's. Meanwhile, Margo recognized the compact as Jessica's, and acting out of jealousy, decided to question the staff at the Harbor View Inn. Craig reunited with Lucy, but after he received a blackmail demand from Don and Wade, Craig made arrangements to meet Don and took a gun. Holden rescued Molly, who opted to recuperate as his guest. Coming: Molly's presence makes Lily uneasy.

Bold and Beautiful

Eric's announcement that Forrester will produce Ridge's new youth line caused friction between Stephanie and Eric as well as Ridge and Thorne. Caitlin was thrilled to learn that her designs would be the focus of the youth line, and she finally got Holden's blessing to work on it. Meanwhile, Thomas exposed the lie about Caitlin's brother. Coming: Caitlin's brother is back in town. Ridge invited Nick to the wedding. Nick vowed that he'd turn up to mend Brooke's heart if she made a fool of her commissioner. Nick in a bar, a drunken Stephanie took Nick's advice to go to the wedding and show Brooke who's in charge. Coming: Unexpected events affect the wedding.

Days of Our Lives

Patrick had a standoff with Hope, which culminated in Hope agreeing to let Patrick take the plane as long as she goes with him. Jan realized her plan to win Shawn's heart wasn't going to work when Shawn insisted that even if Jan brainwashed him, he'd love only Belle. Nicole summoned Jan to tie her up so that it would appear that Nicole was Crystal's victim rather than her collaborator. Jan decided she would be better off killing Nicole, but fled when Brady turned up. As John was about to get the truth out of Crystal concerning the setup of Mariana, Jan knocked him out with a shovel. Later, Philip and Belle discovered Jan hiding on the pier and eavesdropping. Coming: Sam considers trying to win back Lucas.

General Hospital

Jason and Carly learned that Sam is a fugitive. Sam insisted to Jason that she didn't intentionally kill her mother, which Jason relayed to Sonny as they vowed to protect Sam. Later, Jason secretly followed Sam and saw her embracing a man. Georgie and Dillon began to make love, but he wasn't able to finish. When Sonny ordered a hit on Faith, she warned him that if anything happened to her, Carly would find out that Sonny is the father of Sam's baby. Knowing who he is but not remembering his past, Nikolas rejected both Emily and Alexis. Heather was shown to be responsible for the attack on the car. Coming: Tony and Maria's wedding. Coming: Tony and Maria's wedding.

One Life to Live
In Puerto Rico, Antonio was ordered to shoot Sonia to prove his loyalty to the Santos. Instead, Antonio shot a bodyguard, while Sonia killed the Santi boss, as Antonio learned that Adriana is safe at her convent school. Meanwhile, Jessica found Manuel Santi's son, Tico, chained to a wall inside the Santi vault, where he had been left to die. David and Paul were caught by the FBI, but Natalie got away. Kevin refused to believe Blair's claim that neither he nor Todd is Ace's father and started divorce proceedings against Kelly. John and Evangeline tried to ignore their growing mutual attraction. Coming: Someone tries to eliminate Tico.

Passions

Eve was horrified when Liz arrived home with a hostile Aunt Irma, and Eve feared the worst when she saw T.C. in a serious mood. Charity reacted to Kay's outburst against her by deciding to leave town, while Miguel pleaded with her to stay. Julian's informant was murdered before he could reveal what he knows about Julian and Eve's missing son. Theresa shocked Whitney by declaring that Fox is in love with her. Theresa later had to think fast when Chad grilled her about Fox's mystery woman. Luis comforted Sheridan after she had another dream about a bodyguard and a bloody sheet. Coming: Fox makes a stunning confession.

Young and Restless
After the ghosts of Rex and Phillip III appealed to Kay to stop drinking, Kay had a revelation and told Jill she is going into rehab. Nikki recalled a birthday party and heard cries of terror from an adult and a child. Without the support of the Jabot board, Jack resigned. Daniel blasted Danny for not telling him the truth about his paternity. When Mac found out that Daniel is only 16, not college age, she said she only wants to be friends with him but was privately crushed by their breakup. Upon learning that Cassie's biological father is the victim the police found, Sharon was sure of Cameron's involvement to set her up. Coming: Dru tries to reach out to Devon.

Acting isn't therapy for Michelle Stafford

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

At this year's annual Daytime Emmys, Michelle Stafford, who plays Phyllis in "The Young and the Restless," took home her second Emmy - and she tried to give it away!

"I gave this one to my mom, but she wouldn't take it," Stafford says. "There is no way I would be an actress without her. It is too difficult of a business to not have the support of the people around you, because it really takes a toll."

Stafford is very close to both her families - her mom and stepfather, and her dad and stepmother. The fact that they all live no more than 10 minutes away from one another makes it easy. "Thank goodness I like them," she jokes.

Stafford also likes playing Phyllis, which may be why she is so good at it. She recently shot a scene in which Phyllis tells her son that Danny isn't his real father. She gives him her version - which she truly believes - but viewers know it just isn't so!

"I like that Phyllis is totally unfounded in her belief," she says. "I like to study people and how they react. I like watching court shows where people are absolutely in the wrong but are convinced they are right."

Still, acting isn't therapy for Stafford. "I don't express my hidden stuff by being this character," she says. "It is truly a job and a job I like. It is a creative process, and I enjoy painting the picture."

Dear Paulette: Maybe I missed the announcement somewhere, but I can't help but wonder what happened to the actor that played Aidan on "All My Children." He was very good, and I miss him. Will he be back on the show? Thanks. -Ruby Jones, River-ton, Kan.

Dear Reader: Aidan Turner, who plays Aidan Devane, took a brief leave to handle some personal business. He will be back on the air in early August.

Shot Heard 'Round the World
HBO cashes in on the heightened baseball fever generated by this week's All-Star Game with a look back at a "subway series." Both teams are in California now, but in 1951, the Giants called New York home and the Dodgers belonged to Brooklyn. That year, they faced off in a one-game playoff, and the Dodgers looked to take the pennant — until a pivotal home run clinched it for the Giants. Actor Liev Schreiber narrates.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

North Shore

Recent "American Idol" finalist Jasmine Trias had lots of support from her home state, Hawaii, so it's appropriate for her to return home as she plays herself in the new episode "My Boyfriend's Back." Tessa (Amanda Righetti) is shocked to find her abusive ex-boyfriend (guest star Paul Francis), who has unsavory plans as a hotel guest, Morgan's (guest star Josh Hopkins) presence also arouses suspicions.

7 p.m. on ESPN

Home Run Derby

Arguably the second most popular event surrounding baseball's All-Star festivities is the Home Run Derby, where sluggers tee off on batting practice fastballs to the delight of wide-eyed onlookers. And those fans looking for souvenirs won't go home disappointed, given the bandbox dimensions of Minute Maid Park in Houston. Still, chances are you might get sick of Chris Berman's "back, back, back, back, back" call by the end of this competition.

7:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Yes, Dear

Greg and Jimmy (Anthony Clark, Mike O'Malley) are enlisted to wear Greg's father (guest star Tim Conway) off his obsession with Superman — which extends to wearing the Man of Steel's costume — in "Hooked on Comics." Greg learns something quite surprising about his dad's affection for the character. Vicki Lawrence, one of Conway's former "Carol Burnett Show" cohorts, also guest stars.

8 p.m. on 28-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

Despite Cheryl's (Courtney Thome-Smith) desire to keep Gracie and Ruby (Billi Bruno, Taylor Atelian) away from a horror movie, Jim (Jim Belushi) takes them to the picture on the sly in "Scary Movie." The secret trek may be exposed when the girls start having nightmares from what they saw on the screen.

Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) has a decision to make about Jeremy (guest star Jonathan Taylor Thomas) when her boyfriend (guest star Paul Waskewski) returns in the conclusion of "Opposites Attract: Night of the Locust." Kerry (Amy Davidson) stages a "Footloose"-like protest upon learning a certain dance style is being banned from a school dance. Oscar winner Tatum O'Neal makes a rare TV appearance as a PTA member.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

Nova

The crisis faced yearly by those who fight out-of-control blazes in the American West are considered in the expanded installment "Fire Wars." With acres upon acres of land and homes threatened, those skilled in fighting such fires take action. The piece profiles a group known as the Arrowhead. Hotshots, challenged by fires for nearly two months straight in the summer of 2000.

7:30 p.m. on 25-ABC on 13-ABC

I'm With Her

Cybil Shepherd guest stars as Alex's (Teri Polo) mother, who intends to attend the Oscar ceremony with her daughter in Part 1 of "Winners & Losers & Whiners & Boozers." Alex can invite only one other guest, forcing her to choose between Patrick and Cheryl (David Sutcliffe, Rhea Seehorn). Joan Rivers and Oscar winner Marlee Matlin guest star as themselves. Peter Dinklage ("The Station Agent") returns as Alex's agent.

7:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

Eve

Happy that J.T. (Jason George) feels ignored by hard-working Shelly (Eve), his mother (guest star Daphne Maxwell Reid) tries to fix him up with another woman (guest star Kelly Rowland) in "Twas the Fight Before Christmas." Donovan's (Sean Maguire) ex-girlfriend (guest star Erin Carter) wants to lure him back to England. Daphne Zuniga ("Melrose Place") also guest stars.

8 p.m. on 25-ABC on 13-ABC

According to Jim

Jim (Jim Belushi) will do anything to get out of attending a baby shower in "The Imaginary Friend." He fibs to Cheryl (Courtney Thorne-Smith) that he has to accommodate a friend, who doesn't really exist, at the exact time of the shower. Of course, it's only a matter of time until Cheryl catches on.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Wednesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Eric (Topher Grace) evidently creates trouble when he fails to heed Donna's (Laura Prepon) advice against taking an early peek at her wedding dress in "Sparks." After he does, the garment is mysteriously wrecked, and Bob (Don Stark) tries to save the day. Red (Kurtwood Smith) tries to find the soon-to-be-newlyweds a cost-free gift. Outtakes from the series follow.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Smallville

People who have had contact with kryptonite become targets of a killer in "Extinction." Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) is next in line, and in trying to save him, Clark (Tom Welling) is wounded with a bullet made of the element that can rob him of his powers — and potentially kill him. Lana (Kristin Kreuk) also lands in the attacker's sights because of her closeness to Clark.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

Star Trek: Enterprise

Sooner or later, characters from every "Star Trek" show find their way to the present day, and it happens for Archer and T'Pol (Scott Bakula, Jolene Blalock) in "Carpenter Street." They get involved in a chase through time — and Detroit — as they pursue Xindi operatives known to have devised a devastating biological weapon early in the 21st century. Another episode follows immediately.

7 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Manhattan Murder Mystery

Woody Allen meshes his typical neurosis with amateur intrigue in this 1993 comedy. He reunites with Diane Keaton — whom he directed to an Oscar win for "Annie Hall" — as they play a married couple with differing views on a neighbor's demise. He dismisses her hunch that the deceased lady's husband (Jerry Adler, "Mad About You") is responsible for the death. Alan Alda and Anjelica Huston also star.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Quintuplets

A rivalry breaks out between the Chases and the Helbergs when one clan or the other will be chosen to star in a car commercial in the new episode "Diedainfully." The Helbergs' Penny (April Matson) hates the situation, so she rebels by going out with a Helberg. Dan Butler ("Frasier") guest stars.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Simple Life 2: Road Trip

Paris Hilton and Nicole Richie land in Texas as their cross-country trek continues in this new episode. Their stay with hippie throwbacks makes them eager to get out and see the sights as soon as possible. They go to a tanning salon and bring their hosts' sons along with them — but the guys aren't exactly charmed by the experience.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Drew Carey Show

To provide adequately for his and Kellie's (Cynthia Watros) baby, Drew (Drew Carey) goes along with Lewis' (Ryan Stiles) scheme to cash in quick in the new episode "Dog Soup." The duo bets everything on a greyhound that been used as a subject in an experiment at DrugCo, making the canine seemingly unconquerable at the dog race track.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CMA Music Festival: Country Music's Biggest Party

Taped during last month's edition of the annual Music Festival/Fan Fair in Nashville, Tenn., this new two-hour special pours on the country-music performers who turned out to greet and entertain their admirers. Brooks & Dunn, Martina McBride and Keith Urban are among the stars on a bill that also includes Brad Paisley, Montgomery Gentry, Wynonna Judd, Rascal Flatts and LeAnn Rimes.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

An unidentified body in the Hudson River turns out to be a missing wife in a troubled marriage in "Floater." Her husband is the initial suspect, but Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) begin to suspect the woman's death is related to corruption at the court where she was employed.

8 p.m. on TNN

Movie: The Living Daylights

James Bond returned — with a different face — in this effective 1987 entry in the enduring series of espionage thrillers. Timothy Dalton assumes the role of Agent 007, who's involved in a complex scheme to help a Soviet official (Jeroen Krabbe) stage a defection. Maryam D'Abo co-stars as a cellist drawn into the plot that winds up in Afghanistan. John Rhys-Davies ("Siders") and Joe Don Baker play Bond foes.

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Method & Red

Carmen Electra guest stars as a possible investor in Meth and Red's (Method Man, Redman) planned sports arena in the new episode "Dogs." The guys need her financial support to make their dream a reality. On the homefront, Nancy (Beth Littleford) isn't happy with elements of Skyler's (David Henrie) behavior that she holds Meth and Red responsible for.

7 p.m. on 25-ABC on 13-ABC
Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital
The drama wraps up its season with a two-hour episode appropriately subtitled "Finale," featuring an appearance by series creator King as long absent maintenance man Johnny B. Goode. He figures into Dr. Stegman's (Bruce Davison) determination of what actually happened in the Old Kingdom. Dr. Hook and Peter (Andrew McCarthy, Jack Coleman) also get much-sought answers by participating in Sally Druse's (Diane Ladd) seance.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Will & Grace
When Jack (Sean Hayes) escorts Karen (Megan Mullally) to her yearly physical, he decides he was destined to be a student nurse in "Nice in White Satin." He then seeks Will's (Eric McCormack) support in embarking on

7 p.m. on FAM
Movie: Half a Dozen Babies
"Days of Our Lives" veteran Melissa Reeves and husband Scott star as Keith and Becki Dilley, parents of America's first surviving sextuplets. In this fact-based 1999 drama, as the six tiny newborns struggle for life, their parents wrestle with the financial and emotional challenges of becoming an instant family of eight. Judith Ivey co-stars as Becki's mom, who takes in the couple, and Teri Garr plays Keith's ill mother.

8 p.m. on 6-FOX on 25-FOX
Tru Calling
An actress (guest star, Tamyra Gray, "American Idol") shadows Tru (Eliza Dushku) to research an upcoming movie role in "Death Becomes Her." When a car accident results in the performer's death, Tru tries to alter the series of events that led up to it. Jack (Jason Priestley) befriends Harrison (Shawn Reaves), to Tru's dismay.

July 11 - 17, 2004

Sea Coast Echo

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The Bernie Mac Show

After learning of Jordan's (Jeremy Suarez) spelling skills, Bernie (Bernie Mac) encourages him to participate in a spelling bee in "J-O-R-D-A-N Spelling Bee." Jordan fears appearing in front of a crowd, so Bernie suggests warming up the audience with a joke. The plan works, inspiring Jordan to try to be funny consistently. Vanessa (Camille Winbush) attempts to make a documentary about her family.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

George Lopez

Paris Hilton finds "The Simple Life" evasive as she guest stars in "Jason Tutors Max." She plays the teacher hired by George and Angie (George Lopez, Constance Marie) to help Max (Luis Armand Garcia) with his homework, but he's too concerned with her physical attributes to concentrate much. Carmen's (Masela Lusha) boyfriend, Jason (guest star Bryan Fisher), then takes over — but when they break up, everyone suffers.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

Shelley Long ("Cheers") makes a now-rare TV appearance as a guest star in "Vanity: Thy Name Is Human." She plays a cosmetics expert whose tips are useful to Joan's (Amber Tamblyn) makeover efforts — which go unnoticed by Adam (Christopher Marquette), to Joan's dismay. Kevin (Jason Ritter) rejects ex-girlfriend Beth (Kimberly McCullough) when she reaches out to him.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

Holly (Amanda Byrnes) risks destroying two of her relationships for good when she uses Gary (Wesley Jonathan) in a ploy to reconnect with Henry (Michael McMillan) in "The Incredible Shrinking Group." Val and Lauren (Jennie Garth, Leslie Grossman) agree to stay away from sugar, but Val has a much harder time living up to the pact.

7 p.m. and TNT

Movie: Ocean's Eleven

George Clooney and company put a modern sheen on the original Rat Pack gathering in director Steven Soderbergh's ("Traffic") flashy 2001 update. Clooney plays Danny Ocean, a just-paroled thief who wastes no time organizing a Las Vegas heist — which happens to target his ex-wife's (Julia Roberts) casino-owning beau (Andy Garcia). Brad Pitt, Matt Damon, Don Cheadle, Bernie Mac and Carl Reiner play other members of the robbery team.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: 28 Days Later

A lab accident unleashes a virus that means death for countless people in "Transpotting" director Danny Boyle's acclaimed, London-set 2003 thriller. The illness causes those infected to become angry enough to kill, causing constant tension for those who have avoided the disease but must stay on their toes against the afflicted. Brendan Gleeson ("Lake Placid") and Christopher Eccleston ("Shallow Grave") head the cast.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Reba

Van (Steve Howey) wants to leave college behind to pursue a career in arena football, much to Reba's (Reba McEntire) dismay. In "All Grown Up," he's so upset by Reba's reaction that he botches his try-out.

8 p.m. on HALL

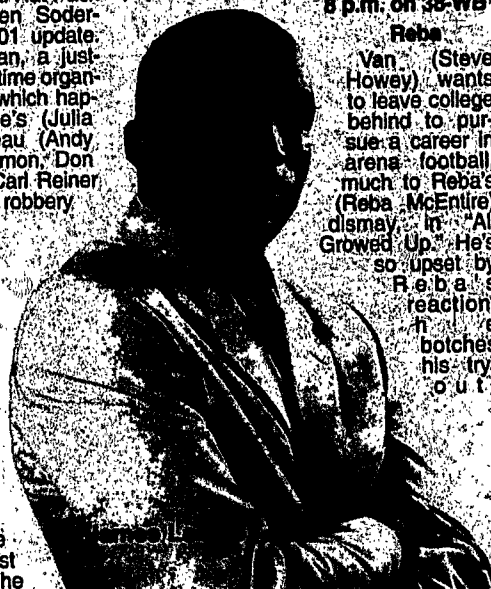

Movie: King of Texas

Putting a Western slant on Shakespeare's "King Lear," this 2002 drama movie transposes the basic framework onto the Texas frontier. Patrick Stewart stars as John Lear, a rich, egomaniacal rancher who demands declarations of love from his daughters in exchange for shares of land. Two (Marcia Gay Harden, Lauren Holly) comply, but the third (Julie Cox) refuses — prompting a split in the family that ultimately leads to tragedy.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

A thief lifts $5 million in diamonds from a Montecito guest in "Family Jewels." Trying to find the culprit and recover the gems, Danny (Josh Duhamel) enlists Mike (James Lesure), who becomes obsessed with solving the crime on his own. Sam (Vanessa Marcil) worries about a gambler whose fiancée declares he never will place a bet again. A psychologist analyzes Ed's (James Caan) security team.

Movie: The Miracle Worker

Halle Kate Elenberg stars as young Helen Keller in this 2000 remake of the Tony-winning play, which first came to the screen in 1962 and won two Oscars. Alison Elliott ("The Spitfire Grill") plays Annie Sullivan, the young teacher who opens deaf and blind Helen's mind and heart with the gift of language. David Strathairn and Lucas Black also star.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: End of Days

It's Schwarzenegger vs. Satan in director Peter Hyams' grim 1999 melodrama. Arnold stars as Kane, a demonized ex-cop fighting the devil (Gabriel Byrne) to save a young woman (Robin Tunney, "Vertical Limit") who's been chosen to bear the Antichrist. Kevin Pollak adds some welcome touches of levity as Kane's partner. Rod Taylor had one of his final screen roles here.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: S.W.A.T.

This fast-paced 2003 adventure is based on producer Aaron Spelling's 1970s TV show. Samuel L. Jackson assumes the role of Sgt. Hondo Harrison, leader of an elite Los Angeles police unit. The well-armed officers are challenged by a drug kingpin (Olivier Martinez, "Unfaithful") who promises a fortune to anyone who can spring him from police custody. Colin Farrell, Michelle Rodriguez, LL Cool J and Josh Charles play other members.
